Official Welcome Is Tendered to I.O.D.E. On Behalf of Province

Lieutenant-Governor Bruce, Premier Tolmie and Mayor Anscomb Tender Greetings at Colorful Ceremony at Empress Hotel; About 600 Present.

With picturesque and colorful ceremonial and in the presence of a distinguished gathering, including Hon. R. B. Bruce, Lieut. Governor, and Hon. E. F. Tolmie, Premier of British Columbia, the twenty-ninth annual meeting of the National Chapter Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire opened last night at the Empress Hotel. Mrs. J. A. Stewart, national president, was in the chair.

To the strains of the National Anthem, His Honor, accompanied by Miss Helen Mackenzie, honorary president of the Provincial Chapter, was escorted into the ballroom by the thirty-eight white-clad standard-bearers, the handsome silken flags of the National and Provincial Chapters leading the colorful procession of Union Jacks. As the standards were grouped around the flower-banked platform and the distinguished guests took their seats, the Schubert Club gave an inspiring rendering of "Land of Hope and Glory." Very Rev. C. S.
Quintin, Dean of Columbia, then gave the prayer, calling for Divine blessing on the Empire, the Dominion, and the work of the order.

LIEUT.-GOVERNOR'S ADDRESS

In welcoming the members of the order to British Columbia, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor declared that no gathering of people who ever crossed the borders of British Columbia were more cordially welcome than the Daughters of the Empire. He commended the inspiration of the founder, who chose the title of "Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire," for such a name implied loyalty, great aspirations and great ideals.

ESSENTIALLY WOMAN'S WORK

"What an Empire to be a daughter of, and what it means to live up to it — an Empire which covers one-quarter of the whole earth's surface, so literally endowed by nature, and so rich in its traditions," continued the speaker. It was essentially a woman's work, the building up of a great Empire, for behind the veil to succeeders lay the story of women pushing their husbands, said His Honor, amid laughter. With women lay the opportunity to lend practical encouragement to Empire work, by buying the products of the Empire.

The order's work among the children of Canada, in inculcating in them the highest ideals of citizenship, constituted a notable service, in the opinion

Coal Price Cut Dollar a Ton; Dealers Merge

Victoria Agencies Reduce Overhead and Pass Gain on to Public

New low prices for coal were announced to-day by the combined Victoria distributors of the Canadian Collieries and the Western Fuel Corporation.

The new prices will be $9.50 a ton for put coal, $10 a ton for single screened lump, and $10.50 for double screened lump. The cut is $1 a ton.
The reduced prices follow the amalgamation of the operations of J. King-ham & Company Limited, Mackay & Gillespie Limited and the Victoria Fuel Company Limited.

"The reduction of price is made possible through amalgamation of our Victoria agencies and a drastic cutting down of overhead," said J. R. Kingham to-day. "The price of coal at the mine has not been changed. Our three separate offices here are being combined in one, at 613 Fort Street, and the other two closed. The saving is being passed on to the public."

The new low price for coal, it is expected, will increase the demand considerably and result in increased consumption in competition with fuel oil in home heating and commercial uses, the fuel men said.

No change in grades of coal sold will be made in Victoria, Mr. Kingham said, although some of the agencies had made changes in Vancouver.

Patent Suit In The Radio Field

New York, May 28.—The Kolster Radio Corporation has served notice of infringement of patents on nineteen competing radio concerns.

Through its subsidiary, the Federal Telegraph Company of California, holder of the patents in question, it plans to bring suit at once against at least one of these companies, it is announced.

The manufacturers notified include the Grigsby-Grunow Company, the National Carbon Company, Crosley, Zenith, Sparton, Bosch, Steinle, A. C.
Dayton, Stewart-Warner, Silver Marshall, Philco, All-American Mohawk, Cittilian and Bonora.

The four patents involved concern gang condensers and vertical drum dials.

PUBLIC ACCOUNTS GROUP REPORTS TO THE COMMONS

Ottawa, May 28.—The public accounts committee of the House of Commons has completed its evidence and to-day decided on a brief report to be submitted to the House with a copy of the evidence taken. The report simply enumerates the accounts investigated, leaving the House to draw its own conclusions from the evidence.

U. S. HOUSE VOTES NEW TARIFF BILL

Sends Measure to Senate, Where Vote May Be Delayed Months

Bill Provides For Increases in Import Duties on Many Commodities

Washington, May 28.—The United States House of Representatives to-day passed the Hawley tariff bill and sent it to the Senate.
The vote on final passage was 264 to 147.

Providing increases in import levies on hundreds of agricultural and manufactured commodities and for a reorganization of the Tariff Commission, the bill will be referred to the Senate finance committee, which plans to hold extensive hearings before reporting it to the Senate. With leaders talking of an all-summer recess, it appears doubtful whether the bill will be taken up in the Senate for several months.

The bill revises, mostly upward, rates in every dutiable section of the existing Fordney-McCumber law, which is designed to supplant.
Every man, woman and child in the United States and nearly every other nation in the world will be affected by the economic changes proposed by the measure in the seven-year-old Republican protective tariff structure.

DEARER SUGAR

Perhaps the most far-reaching change is the advance of sixty-four hundredths of a cent in the effective duty on sugar, raising the present duty of 1.76 cents a pound on Cuban raw sugar to 2.4 cents.

Other rate advances, designed to aid the farmers and manufacturers, affect such commodities as wool, cattle, dairy products, meats, grains, textiles, glass, paper, furniture and clothing of all descriptions.

DUTY ON SHINGLES

Important commodities long allowed free entry into the United States are made dutiable, including hides, leather, boots and shoes, cement, common building brick, shingles and cedar, maple and birch lumber.

The measure also sets up an entirely new rate schedule to embrace manufactures of artificial silk under the official name of "rayon." These goods are protected in the existing law under the silk schedule.

From a public standpoint the increases in the sugar rate and the boosting of duty on raw wool from thirty-one to thirty-four cents a pound are regarded as more important than the others. The duties placed on shoes and the higher rates on hundreds of other farm and factory products also will have a bearing on family budgets unless the producers absorb the higher costs instead of passing them on to the consumers.

TARIFF COMMISSION

While the measure is understood to be objectionable in some respects to President Hoover, it meets with request for a reorganization of the Tariff Commission by providing authority for him to terminate the terms of office of the present six commissioners at his will by the simple process of sending the names of their successors to the Senate for its advice and consent.

RATE CHANGES

Some of the more important rate changes in the bill are as follows, the first figure in each case being the rate in the new bill and the second figure the present rate:
Sugar—2.4 cents lb.; 1.76 cents.
Wool—34¢ lb.; 31¢.
Butter—14¢ lb.; 12¢.
White potatoes—75¢ 100 lbs.; 50¢.
Live cattle, under 800 lbs., 2¢ lb.;
1½¢ under 1,050 lbs.
Live cattle, over 800 lbs., 2½¢ lb.;
2¢ under 1,050 lbs.
Hides—10 per cent ad valorem; free.
Leather—12½ per cent; free.
Milk—5¢ a gallon; 2½¢.
Cream—48¢ a gallon; 20¢.
Fresh beef and veal—6¢ a lb.; 3¢.
Sheep, lamb and goats—83¢ a head; 82¢.
Eggs—10¢ a dozen; 8¢.
Tomatoes—3¢ a lb.; 1½¢.
Shingles—25 per cent; free.
Cedar lumber—25 per cent; free.
Maple and birch lumber—15 per cent; free.

WATERPOWERS BILL APPROVED FOR PRAIRIES

Commons Votes For the Provinces to Take Over Control
From Ottawa

Ottawa, May 28.—The Government measure turning the waterpowers of the three prairie provinces over to the provincial governments for administrative purposes was given third reading by the House of Commons to-day. The bill was given second reading, put through the committee stage and given third reading with comparatively little discussion.

During the debate Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, stated he proposed to bring in legislation at a subsequent session changing the boundary of Rocky Mountain Park.
The changes would have the effect of placing the Spray Lakes outside the park area.

SIMILAR TO B.C. SYSTEM
Mr. Stewart explained the act was designed to meet the requirements of the resolution, passed by the House of Commons earlier in the session. The basis of the transfer was that the waterpowers should be administered in the manner provided for by the British Columbia Waterpowers Act of 1911. In

FLIER TRIES FOR NEW SOLO RECORD

Metropolitan Airport, Los Angeles, May 28.—Herbert J. Fahey, test pilot for the Lockheed Aircraft Company, hopped off at 4:43.05 today in his second attempt to better the solo non-stop mark of 35 hours, 33 minutes and 21 seconds established by Martin Jensen at Roosevelt Field, N.Y., last February.
Fahey's plane was laden with 435 gallons of gasoline, enough to keep him up for about forty hours.

Old Orchard, Me., May 28.—Captain Lewis A. Yan- cey, navigator of the mono- plane, Green Flash, an- nounced to-day that the plane would leave here at 8 a.m. to-morrow for Rome.

and its fliers. At the lower left the single-motored monoplane is shown being fueled, and at the lower right are seen Lewis A. Yancey (left), nav-igator, and Roger Q. Williams, pilot.
The single-motored Benard monoplane Yellow Bird, turned for a Maine flight, is to carry three men—Lefebvre, Jean Assolant, and Armeno Lotti. It also has been delayed at Old Orchard by unfavorable weather.

$2,000 REWARD FOR ARREST OF MAN WHO KILLED POLICE CHIEF

Chicago, May 28.—Shot by hoodlums last Saturday night, Chief of Police Charles Levy of Berwyn, a Chicago suburb, died to-day. A reward of $2,000 already has been offered for William Doody, alleged small robber and gunman, accused of shooting Levy.
Chief Levy was the third policeman to be shot to death by gunmen in the Chicago area within the last two weeks.

Veterans Seek Reasons For Watt Dismissal

Vancouver, May 28.—The British Columbia executive of the Canadian Legion has applied for an interview with Premier Tolmie and Hon. W. C.
Shelly for the purpose of discussing the dismissal of Norman Watt from the office of Government agent at Prince Rupert. Owing to the absence of Mr. Shelly in the east the interview has been postponed until the Minister's return.

THOUSAND READERS WILL BE PROTECTED BY COMMISSIONERS

Believing that the interests of over 1,000 Sanich residents, now enjoying library facilities, preclude cessation of service, the Victoria Library Commission, at its meeting to-morrow afternoon, is expected to refuse to adopt the suggestion of the Sanich council to close the library to Sanich residents.

Members of the Board of Commissioners this morning stated that if compelled to action they would prefer to institute suit in the courts against the municipal council of Sanich for non-payment of the accrued fees of $227, earned by service during the three months ending March 31.

"We have no right to terminate the contract of our own volition. If the Sanich council so instructs us, the contract may be voided, but their suggestion is not sufficient to warrant imposition by us, of a hardship on more than one thousand residents of the municipality," said Alderman William Merchant this morning.

FARM WORKER FINDS SKELETON

Edmonton, May 28.—After a search for Thomas Mund by the Alberta provincial police for nearly nine years following the murder of two children at Manila, near Westlock, the skeleton of the man was found yesterday 100 yards from Shoe Lake, a mile and a quarter north of his home.

It was on June 2, 1920, that the bones of Sylvia MacDonald, fifteen, and her brother Andrew, ten, were found under a coat owned by Mund.
Mund disappeared at the time and while the police scoured the country no trace of him was found until yesterday's discovery.

Thomas Lockhart, a farmer of the Manitoba district, ran across the skeleton, which shows a hole over the right temple made presumably by a bullet.
Lying nearby was a .38 revolver with one spent bullet shell and two live ones.

Doctors Crawford and Watt viewed the bones and both were satisfied they were those of Thomas Mund.
No inquest will be held.

FLIERS GIVEN REWARDS FOR LONG FLIGHT

Reg. Robbins and James Kelly, Texans, Acclaimed in Material Manner

Fort Worth, Texas, May 28.—Reg. L.
Robbins and James Kelly have begun to reap some of their rewards as the new holders of the world endurance flight record.

Rested after completing 172 hours, 32 minutes and 1 second of continuous flight in their single-motored monoplane Fort Worth, the airmen find presents and lucrative offers pouring in on them.

Accolades and bids for their services are in sharp contrast with the little aid the former railroad mechanic and the erstwhile cowpuncher received in preparing for the endurance test.

Scores of offers for vaudeville engagements, newspaper and magazine articles on the flight and various positions with aircraft concerns have been received.

Robbins and Kelly have not decided what course to follow, but friends express the belief they would go on an aerial "barnstorming tour."

NEW PLANE FOR MEN

A representative of the Maloney
Ryan Aircraft Corporation of St. Louis arrived with word that a new Ryan plane with a Wright Whirlwind motor would be presented to the fliers in recognition of their record-breaking cruise in the Fort Worth, a rebuilt Ryan plane.

P.G.E. SURVEY IS TO BE MADE BY AEROPLANES

Machines Will Speed Work of Making Map of Region

Provincial Government, C.P.R. and C.N.R. Engineers Working Out Plans

Vancouver, May 28.—Plans to complete in one summer, by aerial methods, a map which, under ordinary procedure would require several seasons to finish have been made by the Provincial Government and the C.P.R. and C.N.R. engineers in charge of the P.G.E. survey.

For this purpose two Royal Canadian Air Force Fairchild cabin monopla-nes, now on photographic patrol in the Shuswap Lake area for the Federal topographical survey will be loaned by the Dominion Government. At least one, and perhaps two, commercial planes now operating in the Vancouver district will assist the R.C.A.F. machines, the Dominion Airways Limited and the Western Canada Airways Limited, having placed tenders with the Provincial Government for the work. One of the main features of the P.G.E. survey, which cost $400,000, will be the aerial photography.

TO MOVE HEADQUARTERS
Lieut. A. B. Morrie, who is in charge of the topographical survey work in the interior, and Flying Officer L. H. Wheelton, his assistant, are preparing to move their base from Shu-swap Lake to Summit Lake, near Prince George, for the work.

ADDITIONS TO GRAIN ELEVATORS

Work Started in Vancouver on Two Buildings Will Increase Capacity

Vancouver, May 28.—Vancouver's grain storage facilities are increasing rapidly.

With a contract awarded yesterday for construction of 1,000,000 bushels additional storage at the house of the Midland-Pacific Terminal Limited at North Vancouver and work was commenced that day.

To-day 2,750,000 bushels were added to the port's capacity when the Alberta Wheat Pool board of directors at Calgary awarded the contract for an addition to Pool Elevator No. 1, at the north end of Cassiar Street at the Second Narrows Bridge, to the Carter-Hells-Aldinger Company Limited at a price of approximately $675,000.

The addition of 2,750,000 bushels to Pool Elevator No. 1 will give the pool a total storage of 5,250,000 bushels in its own houses and 1,500,000 bushels in the house leased from the Vancouver Harbor Board. When completed Pool
No. 1 will be the largest terminal on the Pacific Coast.

These additions to the present capacity will bring the total storage facilities of the port to more than 14,000, 000 bushels. The Harbor Board plans to add some 7,500,000 bushels storage to its own houses here, elevators 1, 2 and 3.

LITTLE JOE

WHAT'S IN A NAME DEPENDS ON WHAT YOU MAKE IT

Winnipeg, May 28.—Optimistic crop prospects on Canada's rainsplashed prairies and pessimistic wheat value estimates from Chicago and Liverpool brought new low marks for the season in the prices of wheat to-day. Closing figures indicated prices had been slashed 2¼ to 2½ cents from yesterday's final quotations.

Pounded down by continued depression, May wheat receded to $1.07¼ a bushel, ¼ of a cent below the low mark set last August by the October future. At the close of trading to-day quotations were:
May deliver $1.08¼ bid, July $1.09½, October $1.07½.

Worried at the downward trend of a market whose recovery had been forecast weeks back, holders liquidated freely and selling orders flooded the pit. Moderate buying by exporters at the low points took up the slack
All futures had recovered at least one cent before the close.

BUYERS' VIEWS
Rains throughout Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta brought about the weakness at Liverpool, which inspired a message that overseas buyers were satisfied with the prospects for the Canadian crop.

In August, 1928, October wheat went down to $1.07½ and in 1923, the largest break on record, wheat sold below $1.

DECLINE AT CHICAGO
Chicago, May 28.—Slashing of grain prices to meet world competition, especially on newly harvested United States wheat, was intensified to-day and July wheat here went below $1 a bushel. May was at 98 cents. New low price records for every cere-tral in were established owing to continued heavy selling. As a result of fresh setbacks in prices to-day, however, indications were seen at the finish that new crop domestic hard winter wheat for shipment by way of the Gulf of Mexico at last had reached a sufficiently low price level to compare with current values in foreign markets.

Wheat closed nervous 1¼ to 1½ net lower, corn unchanged to 1½ off, oats ¾ to 1½ down, rye showing 2½ to 3½ drop and prices unchanged to a setback of twenty cents.

PROVINCIAL WELCOME FOR AUSTRALIANS

PROVINCIAL WELCOME FOR AUSTRALIANS

Victoria has as its guests to-day 168 members of the Young Australia League.

For a farewell glimpse of the great continent of North America, which they have traveled extensively during the last few months, these Australian youths arrived this afternoon from Vancouver.

Ranging in age from seventeen to twenty years, they are ambassadors of Australia's upright youth and budding citizenship, bearing goodwill from the Southern Dominion of the Empire.

A Provincial welcome awaited the touring party to-day. From the Vancouver boat they marched to the steps of the Parliament Buildings, where they were greeted by members of the Government. From there a drive was planned to Government House, where His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Randolph Bruce was to receive them. Afterwards there was a drive through the city and Saanich Peninsula to Butchart's Gardens.

This evening the Provincial Government will do further honor to the visiting Australians at a dinner in the Empress Hotel grill room, commencing at 6:45 p.m.

Service clubs of the city will join in welcoming the youths to-morrow at a luncheon in the Chamber of Commerce.

In the evening a civic dinner in their honor will be held at the Empress Hotel at 8 o'clock with Mayor Herbert Anscomb presiding.

The party will leave by the motorcoach for Australia at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

Something decidedly original in roadhouse design is shown in "Why Be Good?" Colleen Moore's latest and most sophisticated comedy-drama, current at the Capitol Theatre.

"The Boiler," representing a popular cabaret in which much of the entertaining action of "Why Be Good?" takes place, is carried out in the most unique fashion, the interior of the establishment being decorated to resemble a furnace room. Heavy iron doors open into private "furnaces," or dining-rooms, while above the orchestra is a pressure indicator and a safety valve that blows off steam as the music becomes hotter and hotter. Waiters dressed as firemen and "oilers," and appropriate table service add to the effect.

It is in this ultra-modern setting that Miss Moore and her leading man, Neil Hamilton, are first brought together.

On the stage at the Capitol a fine bill of vaudeville is headed by Mattell's Mannekins in an entirely new show of novelties. Miss Dorothy Hartree, outstanding contralto soloist in the recent musical festival, will also appear on the bill, along with Chris Wade and Capitol Stage Band, with Jack Medford officiating as master of ceremonies.

AVIATOR'S LOVE FOR FRENCH GIRL FORMS THEME OF PICTURE

If love levels all ranks, it also overshadows even events of world import, so far as lovers are concerned. And as most of the world loves them, it is not surprising that "Lilac Time," First National's big new special which opened yesterday at the Columbia Theatre with Colleen Moore as the star, enthralls by reason of the love story it tells of a greater extent than because of the World War background.

First National has supplied a picture perfectly directed by George Fitzmaurice, wherein a little French girl and an English aviator are the principals. Colleen Moore is the girl, Jeanne, and Gary Cooper is the young ace. Both contribute brilliant performances.

The audience responds to the magnificent scenes of battles; the movements of the troops from provincial village before the enemy advance—all of which were marvelously presented. But it weeps with Colleen Moore, laughs with her and longs as she does, for peace, that love might not be thwarted in its purpose.

SIR HALL CAINE AIDED FILMING OF OWN STORY

Sir Hall Caine, the author of "The Bondman," recently adapted to the screen, is one author who welcomes the aid of film and radio. In fact, so interested was the great novelist that when Herbert Wilcox decided to make "The Bondman" a film, he went to the closed, Sir Hall offered to go with the company to the Isle of Man locations and did so. "The Bondman" is the current screen attraction at the Playhouse Theatre.

For photoplay purposes it was found necessary to change the Iceland scenes in the book to Sicily, and the author readily consented to the change. He took an active interest during the entire making of the production and Mr. Wilcox was delighted with him in his Hamptons study many times before actual work on the picture.

The great Max novel, who was created a K.B.E. in 1918, and a Companion of Honor in 1922, went to London from his home on the Isle of Man at the invitation of Dante Gabriel Rossetti, with whom he lived until that versatile artist's death.

NAVY LEAGUE BAND LENDS NAUTICAL AIR TO COLISEUM FILM

As a special added attraction the Boys' Navy League Band of eighteen pieces will appear at the Coliseum Theatre to-night in connection with the all-British super-picture "Carry On," the feature screen attraction at the Coliseum this week. Members of the band will render nautical airs which will lend a tang of the sea to the atmosphere and hornpipe tunes and sailor ditties will be heard on the piccolo.

"Carry On" is one of the greatest naval picture ever produced. It is filmed on a lavish scale with the mighty warships of the British Empire playing an important part. Great dreadnaughts, trim cruisers and heavy armed destroyers cruise the seas on the screen most realistically. Back of all this is a fine story, that of the love of two boys for each other. Playmates in youth, one the son of an admiral the other the son of a fisherman, they grow up and their stations in life are widely different. But their friendship is still staunch, although for a time it looks very much as if the fisherman's son is false to his youthful pact of eternal friendship. In the cause of his country he gives up his life, his friend, discovering when it is too late, that the companion of his youth was true to the last to his friend and country. The admiral's son also dies for his cause, and his life is ended in the cabin of a mighty war vessel.

The stage attraction this week is entitled "Pinched." An account of the length of "Carry On" the stage show is shorter this week than usual and only five of the players appear. These are Miss Loane Webber, Paul Wallace, Leon Cluff, Lorus Bagaley and Raymond "Toby" Leitch. CLASH OF EAST AND WEST TOLD IN FILM "FAZIL"

Beauty, romance and action make "Fazil," Fox picture which opened yesterday at the Dominion Theatre, one of the film treats of the year. Charles Farrell and Greta Nissen are the featured players. The production was directed by Howard Hawks.

Fazil, an Arab tribal prince, is sent to Venice on a diplomatic mission and falls madly in love with Fabienne, a French girl. He sweeps her off her feet with his ardent love-making. Their honeymoon is spent in Paris, but before long, his inborn prejudice leads him to object to her freedom with other men and when she refuses to yield to his beliefs, he leaves her and returns to the desert.

Fabienne follows and enters the harem, which he has maintained in defiance to custom. He dismisses the harem girls and he and Fabienne are united again. But there are further clashes between the two representatives of east and west, and Fabienne arranges with her friends to help her to escape from the palace, which leads to a tremendous climax, in which Fazil is wounded. The ending has an unexpected twist and is highly dramatic.

ESQUIMALT WILL ADVERTISE LAND

Cornerstone of New Municipal Hall Will Be Laid June 5

Continuing its policy of advertising land to people approaching Victoria by boat, the Esquimalt Council will spend $100 to repaint the advertising sign on McLaughlin Point, it was decided at the Esquimalt Council meeting last night.

During the meeting, Dr. J. S. McCallum was appointed the municipality's representative to the directorate of the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital.

A letter from the city clerk relating to the cost of replacing a two-inch main on Victoria View Road by a six-inch one, was read. The city notified Esquimalt that this work would cost approximately $3,000 and would be too great an expenditure for this year's appropriations. It stated, however, that work might be done on it next year.

A motion, requesting Hon. R. H. Pelly to officiate at the laying of a cornerstone in the New Municipal Hall on June 5, was passed. Arrangements were made for the purchase of the stone and trowel and for the issuing of invitations to members of the City Council and the reeves of the adjacent municipalities to attend the ceremony. Three letters from Beaumont, Bogs and Company, P. R. Brown and Sons Limited, and B.O. Lands and Investment Agency, requesting permission to submit bids for the insurance on the building was necessary. A donation of $25 was granted to the Tuberculosis Veterans' Association.

IT'S ALL IN THE DRAWL

By DAN THOMAS
Hollywood, Cal., May 28.—Negroes of northern Oklahoma and southern Kansas are responsible for the peculiar type of dialect through which George Moran and Charles Mack have become two of the most famous comedians in America.

This information was secured from the stage actors between scenes of "Backstage Blues," their first motion picture which they are now making at the Paramount studio here.

"The Two Black Crows," as they are familiarly known, both spent their early lives in the southern part of Kansas, Mack in White Cloud and Moran in Elwood. They know the dialect of this section as probably no other white men know it, inasmuch as they spent years carefully studying the negro language.

"The drawl which we use is a mental device and not an impediment," explained Mack, who is the spokesman for the team. "The type of negro which we studied stalls at the beginning of every sentence, particularly when he is answering a question. He does this because he is canny. He wants to be careful and sure before he says a word."

"As a rule he starts by repeating a part of the question asked him, injects a few 'wells' and then gets under way with long pauses between words and a dragging out of the syllables which he speaks. He does this because all the time he is framing the words he is about to speak and a rule the negro does not think quickly."

ASK WILLOWS BUILDING ON LARGE SCALE

B.C. Agricultural Association Present $16,500 Programme to City Council

Railway Board Sitting on Interchange Switch Costs Will Be Watched

Suggesting the erection of a new Home Products building at the Willow Fair Grounds, at an estimated cost of $15,000, the executive of the B.C. Agricultural Association, in a letter to the City Council last night, rejected the city's proposals to spend $4,000 in temporary accommodation at the site.

The association described as impracticable the plan to bridge two buildings with floor and roofing to form one larger structure, and suggested instead the moving of the restaurant, at a cost of $1,500, and the erection of a new Home Products building at a further cost of $15,000.

Alderman E. S. Woodward, supporting the plan, said the expenditure would be a remunerative one, as it would afford additional exhibition space for rentals.

The chief question was one of cost, stated Mayor Herbert Anson. Where was the money to come from? he asked.

The association's letter was referred without discussion to the finance committee for investigation and report.

Notified of the forthcoming sitting of the Railway Board of Canada here on June 24, the council instructed City Solicitor H. S. Pringle to prepare the city's reply to any suggestion that it be assessed a part of the cost of the installation and upkeep of the interchange switch on the Sonthees Reserve. The city will be formally represented at the hearing.

The council made arrangements to sit again on June 4, and twice a month during June, July and August, with provision for such special meetings as may be required.

PRAIRIE BISHOP BUYS PROPERTY

Rt. Rev. George E. Lloyd Secures Estate Near Naval Barracks

After twenty-five years service on the dry prairie, Rt. Rev. George E. Lloyd, Bishop of Saskatchewan, will come to Esquimalt and build a residence on the waterfront near the Naval Barracks, according to a letter requesting lots in that vicinity considered by the Esquimalt council last night.

So anxious is he to be close to the water, that the bishop is seeking to purchase property, a large part of which is under the sea. Since the 1886 survey of the land in question, the encroaching sea has come in and flooded a considerable portion of the land south of Haig Street. The purchaser, however, is willing to buy the land on terms, requiring no compensation from the council when the land is resumed.

Councillor Head objected to the sale of this land, stating it was not well surveyed and would probably be greatly rearranged when it was resumed. He was informed by the municipal clerk and engineer that Dr. Lloyd was aware of this and was willing to exonerate the council from any liabilities which might result from the survey.

After much discussion, the council instructed the solicitor to draw up an agreement of sale including every possible right which the municipality might require in case of dissatisfaction between itself and its client over the transaction.

Lower Rail Rates On Wheat Flour

Ottawa, May 28.—Under an order passed by the Board of Railway Commissioners late yesterday afternoon, the Canadian National Railways and Canadian Pacific are authorized to publish one day's notice of tariffs containing reduced rates on grain and wheat flour from Ontario shipping points to the Atlantic seaboard for export, to meet the reduction made by the United States railways.

The amount of the reduction in rates is not specified in the order, but, according to information received by the board, rates from Georgian Bay ports to eastern Canadian ports will be reduced by 3.33 cents per 100 pounds below the present rates.

The railway companies, it is understood, will bring the reduced rates into effect Wednesday.

HOUSE NAMES AND NUMBERS

London, Eng.—By Mail—Colonel W. G. Todd, postmaster of Stoke-on-Trent, utters a protest at what he describes as "suburban snobbery" of residents who insist on giving their houses fancy names and ignoring the ordinary street numbering. The practice, he declares, leads to a considerable amount of additional labor being thrown upon the postal service.

"The occupants of 'villadom'," says Colonel Todd, "dearly love a light-sounding or fantastic name. 'Seaview' or 'Rosemount' sound so much better than 'No. 27.' Appropriateness plays no part in the average nomenclature, and 'Sea View' may overlook a gas-works and the only indications of flowers surrounding 'Rosemount' may be an anemic aspidistra in the window. "There is not the least harm in the retention of these names, and it is merely a case of pandering to the harmless vanity which afflicts the best of us," says Col. Todd, "but there should also be a distinguishing number in order to facilitate immediate delivery."

SHINGLE TARIFF SCHEME IN U.S. BRINGS PROTEST

Mid-west Farm Organizations Say Building Material Rates Too High

Washington, May 28 (By Kenneth S. Clark, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—Revision of the Hawley tariff bill to the possible disadvantage of Canadian exporters proceeded in the House of Representatives yesterday afternoon.

The Republican majority clapped a provisional duty of sixty-three cents a bushel on flaxseed.

An attempt to raise the rate proposed by the ways and means committee, on hides was defeated 190 to 58.

Rates of 10 per cent ad valorem on hides, 12 1/2 to 30 per cent on leather and 20 per cent on boots and shoes were read into the bill by a vote of 190 to 90.

The House also raised the proposed rate on canned tomatoes from 25 cents to 40 cents. The clover seed rate was raised from 4 to 5 cents and the duty on onions from 1 1/2 to 2 cents a pound.

PROTEST HEARD
While the House was rushing through revision of the bill with the prospect of voting on the whole measure to-morrow afternoon, signs of revolt from the farm interests and Democrats were in evidence. Representative Ralph Lozier, Democrat, Missouri, protested against the rates affecting Canadian exports. The Dominion, he said, was the second best customer of the United States. It bought sixty per cent of its imports from the United States and only twenty-three per cent from Great Britain. High tariff walls would inevitably result in the erection of a new trade barrier by Canada, and a tariff war would not be a help to either country. The policy now being carried into effect was a foolish one, he said.

A demand for a lowering of the proposed rates on shingles, lumber and cement was made by farm organizations of the middle west in a telegram received by Representative Selvis, Republican, Minnesota. The telegram was said to have been approved by 1,000 organizations of farmers and business men.

1,729 IN FIELD SEEK ELECTION

Voters' Lists in Britain Carry
Total of 28,072,795 Names

London, May 28 (By George Hamilton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—With 304 more candidates in the field and nearly 6,000,000 more voters on the list than in 1924, this will be Great Britain's most costly election. The general election in 1924 cost $4,605,825. It is estimated this year each candidate may spend sixpence per elector in his riding. If he is running in a country district, and fivepence if he is contesting a borough riding. In two-member constituencies each candidate is expected to spend threepence three farthings for each elector.

There are 492 seats in England, 36 in Wales and Monmouth, 74 in Scotland and 13 in Northern Ireland. The minimum required for any party to win the election without counting the Speaker, is 308.

The total electorate this year consists of 14,791,813 women and 13,280,982 men. Compared with 1924, there is an increase of 5,834,727, of whom 5,151,021 are women.

There are 1,729 candidates seeking election, an increase over the last election of 304. Women candidates number sixty-eight, an increase of twenty-seven.

Seven members were elected by acclamation, a decrease of twenty-five. In 444 constituencies there are three-cornered fights. Of the 615 members elected to the old Parliament, 511 are running again.

By-elections since 1924 have on the whole gone against the Government. There were sixty-three altogether and sixty-one were contested. Labor made a net gain of twelve seats through them, the Liberals made a net gain of three seats and the Conservatives had a net loss of fifteen seats.

SETTLEMENT IS DEBATE TOPIC IN COMMONS

Members Discuss Immigration;
McRae Amendment
Lost Without Recorded Vote

Ottawa, May 28.—Immigration was discussed in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon and last night. After the debate, without a recorded vote, the amendment moved by Major-Gen. A. D. McRae, Conservative, North Vancouver, last week was declared withdrawn. The amendment, which was moved on a government motion to go into supply for consideration of Immigration Department estimates, sought to have the House express regret at "the failure of the Government to profit by Canadian opinion in the colonization and settlement of the country."

It deplored "the settlement of men and women on western crown lands at great distances from transportation and other facilities," and finally set forth that conditions "can only be remedied by an immediate reorganization of the Department of Immigration and Colonization."

In moving his amendment Gen. MacRae last week outlined his views for a large scheme for the settlement of the Peace River district. This scheme was criticized from a number of speakers yesterday.

From the Progressive benches, Miss Agnes MacPhail, Southeast Grey, remarked that General MacRae had talked like a promoter.

Speaking of Gen. MacRae's scheme for the Peace River district, J. A. Bradette, Liberal, North Temiskaming, Ont., said the poor settlers already located in that part of the country were loaded with debt and new settlers would only get discouraged.

PEACE RIVER GROWTH

There was no country anywhere which had retained as big a percentage of its pioneer population as the Peace River district, declared D. M. Kennedy, U.F.A., Peace River. Of the 5,000 homesteads filed upon last year, he added, all but about ten per cent had been taken by Canadians who had either homesteaded before or with the sons of farmers of other provinces.

Twelve hundred of the total of 5,000 were second homesteads taken by pioneers who already had "proved" on their first homestead holdings. This was proof, Mr. Kennedy said, of the faith of the people of the Peace River country.

J. A. Fraser, Conservative, Cariboo, was of the opinion the money devoted to immigration was not spent as efficiently as it should be. Mr. Fraser said the farmers of Peace River had lost $6,500,000 in 1927-28 by not having proper railway facilities to handle the crops of those years. Millions of dollars spent by the department abroad would be better used in a proper colonization effort, he thought.

"Why the department even has an immigration agent in China who is costing Canada $8,075 a year," Mr. Fraser declared.

PASSPORT WORK

Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration, said it was unfair to say Canada was seeking immigration either from China or Japan. The agent in Hongkong was concerned with the examination of passports. As a matter of fact the Government discouraged Oriental immigration.

W. T. Lucas, U.F.A., Camrose, thought the McRae scheme was quite constructive, but he could not support the amendment. The Minister of Immigration would find no criticism from the U.F.A. corner of the House if he kept some restrictions on the number and class of immigrants coming into the country, he added.

H. J. Barber, Conservative, Fraser Valley, spoke briefly.

PRAIRIE MEN SPEAK

William Irvine, U.F.A., Wetaskiwin, said it would be possible to increase the agricultural population too greatly, just as it was to have an over-abundance of professional men. The same principle of supply and demand held good. He was opposed to an intensive campaign to settle the northwest. Agriculture, he said, was passing through a critical period.

W. R. Fanner, Progressive, Last Mountain, said it was impossible for farmers' sons to establish themselves on the land, due to the fact that the era of land growth had passed, and also to the poor remuneration for farming. When these conditions were adjusted matters would be better. The farmers, he said, should have some relief from the burdens they bore in order to help other industries.

RECORD BEATEN AT REST ROOM

King's Daughters Have Busiest Month in Work at Rest Room

Interesting reports were presented at the district meeting of the King's Daughters, held in the rest room, Monday, Mrs. L. K. Hardie, president, in the chair.

Mrs. James Stewart reported for the rest room. In April, the biggest month so far recorded it was open twenty-six days and had 3,440 patrons.

Mrs. Hardie reported for the King's Daughters' Hospital at Duncan. The hospital was thrown open during the recent convention of King's Daughters on May 15, 16 and 17 at Duncan, and proved a great source of interest to all delegates and visitors.

The delegates also attended the graduation exercises of four nurses, the Misses Scott, Dickman, Dickenson and Macklin.

A number of the directors were present at the opening of the new wing at St. Joseph's Hospital, namely Miss Jackson, lady superintendent of nurses; Miss M. E. Wilson, Mrs. Brockway, Mrs. Whitcomb, from Duncan, and Mrs. James Stewart and Mrs. L. H. Hardie, of Victoria.

The Speedwell Circle presented the sitting-room at the rest room with a new couch and lamp. Mrs. Snyder, general secretary Social Service League, spoke to the members on the work in general and the Sunshine Camp at Sassex.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Miss Snyder. After the meeting tea was served.

The next meeting will be held on June 24, when the arrangements for the fall fair will be discussed, the King's Daughters having the refreshment concession in the Woman's Building.

Veterans Hold Church Parade At St. Alban's

The memorial service held by the Army and Navy Veterans on Sunday evening at St. Alban's Church taxed the seating to the limit. Veterans were present in force, together with members of the Ladies' Auxiliary and relatives.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor was met at the church door by Capt. C. F. L. Money, and conducted to his seat by the clergy and the church wardens, E. Andrews and J. Usher.

In a special exhortation Rev. J. W. Leighton, C. F. Chaplain of the unit, said: "We are assembled in this holy house to seek, through the presence of the God and Father of us all, to keep trust with our comrades in His keeping, and in their glorious company to dedicate ourselves anew to His service."

In the shortened order of evening prayer the lesson was read by Capt. Money. The silent tribute preceded recital of the Apostles' Creed. After the singing of Kipling's "Recessional" prayers appropriate to the occasion were offered. Then followed the hymn, "O God Our Help."

Rev. W. Barton, C.F., preached from the text, "There are three that bear record in earth, the Spirit, the Water and the Blood."

"There will always be war," he said, "as long as there is sin and evil to be fought in the world."

Comrade F. Cawsey rendered "Last Post." Following the benediction the congregation sang the National Anthem. Mrs. D. Swan was at the organ.

Beautiful floral decorations in red, white and blue, provided by the Army and Navy Veterans, were tastefully arranged by Mrs. E. J. Heady.

THEATRE PROFITS CUT BY TALKIES, SHUBERT LAMENTS

New York, May 28.—Shubert Theatre Corporation and subsidiaries report for the six months ended December 31, 1928, a net income of $470,822, after interest, depreciation and Federal taxes, equal to $2.19 a share on 214,900 shares no par stock outstanding at the end of that period.

"The show business has witnessed the worst season in many years," Lee Shubert, president of the Shubert Theatre Corporation, stated. "Not only has our business been affected by a poor season generally, but loss of many of our stars to talking pictures and the necessary increase in cost to retain others has contributed to the current decrease in earnings."

"In my opinion, this situation is only temporary and eventually I believe most of the legitimate actors will return to the stage."

"The season ahead offers a much better outlook. We will have several new productions, including some which have already been successful abroad," Mr. Shubert said, that although net earnings for 1929 show a falling off from figures of 1928, nevertheless, they are sufficient to cover the company's dividend requirements.

MAN AND WIFE END THEIR LIVES

Montreal, May 28.—J. A. Alexander, fifty-five, an engineer and former university professor, and his wife were found dead in their home here to-day when police, investigating a letter received by a neighbor of the Alexanders stating their intention to commit suicide, broke down the door and gained entrance. A bottle of poison was found near the bodies. It was estimated the two died three days ago.

The letter, which resulted in the tragic discovery, was received by J. G. King, a friend of the family, and was signed by both Mr. and Mrs. Alexander. "We will be dead when you read this," the letter said. "We are discouraged and tired of life."

With C. R. Crysdale, engineer in charge, Prince George has been made the headquarters for the survey of P.G.E. Railway subsidy lands. Survey parties are in the field and favorable weather is permitting the work to proceed at a good pace.

AUSTRALIA-CANADA TRADE GROWING

Vancouver, May 28.—"The bald figures of totals of Australian trade with Canada do not disclose what underlies them," said E. A. Haynes, newly arrived Australian trade commissioner in Canada, in addressing the Vancouver Canadian Club yesterday.

"One item, sugar," the speaker said, "which had been affected by untoward circumstances, makes all the difference in the world to the trade we have done with you. Take this item out of the total and we find that under the trade agreement between us, Australia started to trade under the new conditions with a total of $100,000 worth of goods being sold to Canada annually under the agreement. In the third year of the agreement these items had reached an aggregate of $1,500,000."

"In the current year there will be a further increase, in meat, canned fruits, gelatine and other items. Thanks to the agreement, Australia has captured the market for currants and is gradually establishing a trade in sultanas. Already this season Canada had bought twice as much as she bought in 1927. The frosts in California have given us an opportunity of selling canned peaches. You will find them unexcelled anywhere in the world."

YOU POOR KID, WHY ARE YOU SO SKINNY

Don't your Mother know how to put pounds of good healthy flesh on your bones in just a few weeks?

Tell her every druggist has McCoy's in sugar-coated tablets now so that in just a few weeks she can help you get back your appetite—make your body stronger—your feet nimble and your mind keener.

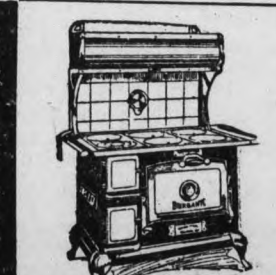

Tell her if they don't help greatly in thirty days she can get her money back.

Tell her that McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets are full of weight increasing and energy creating substances and are the most successful flesh producers and health builders she can find.

One sickly thin kid age nine, gained twelve pounds in seven months. She must ask MacFarlane Drug Co., the headquarters for the survey of Vancouver Drug Co., Owl Drug Co., or any good druggist for McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets—60 tablets—60 cents—economy size $1.00—as pleasant to take as candy. ONE MORE DAY

IN SPITE OF A NUMBER OF SUGGESTIONS that the election campaign in Great Britain would be enlivened by an eleven-hour sensation, it looks as if the electors will go to the polls on Thursday with nothing more in their minds than they already have absorbed.

It has been an interesting battle of words. Some of them have been bitter, but many of the verbal barbs have been blunted by good humor. It can hardly be said with truth that the Government Party has conducted a campaign as if it really desired to remain in office. At the outset, Mr. Baldwin made it clear that he and his supporters for the most part would rely upon their achievements since 1924. It has been described as a "safety first" appeal. The Prime Minister has publicly stated on numerous occasions that he does not believe the people of Britain are in the mood to change their Government, either for an experiment with the policies which Labor is advocating, or in the hope that the promises which Mr. Lloyd George has been making will come true. Influential elements in the Conservative Party, however, including a number of newspapers friendly to the Government, are not at all sure that Mr. Baldwin has correctly estimated the temper of the electorate. They have hinted that the public nowadays demands something more than a "let-well-enough-alone" policy, that it is more likely to be attracted either to Labor or Liberalism because both these parties have given it something to think about.

Mr. Lloyd George early took the unemployment problem for his principal campaign text, with the question of disarmament and peace serving as a means of attacking the Government for what he considers its failure to accomplish what the people desire in these matters. The Liberal leader has promised, if given a chance, to restore employment conditions to somewhere near normal within twelve months. His plan is a great public works programme at an enormous cost. It has the support of party chiefs of the more conservative type of Lord Grey and Sir John Simon, while the experts who assisted Mr. Lloyd George to draw up these proposals are men of outstanding ability in the economic and industrial realm. It is only natural that both Conservative and Labor parties have no faith in them. Their campaign posters depict the Welshman blowing bubbles—"They're lovely till they burst!" Equally sceptical of the nationalization plans of the Labor Party are both Liberals and Conservatives, although in the matter of disarmament and foreign policy there is little to choose between the formula proposed by Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Ramsay MacDonald. In regard to unemployment, incidentally, there are approximately 30,000 more persons idle now than there were at this time last year, a factor which may or may not swing support to the Liberals.

There is a good deal of speculation about the newly-enfranchised young women. Indications are, and it is not a little surprising, that they are more interested in disarmament and a prudent foreign policy than they are in unemployment and domestic and general economic questions. All this adds to the uncertainty of the outcome. At this distance, however, the Government would appear to have the best chance of returning the largest number of members. It will be helped materially by 444 three-cornered and a large number of four-cornered fights. Many Conservatives will ride to victory on a minority vote.

THE SILK INDUSTRY

THE SILK INDUSTRY OF CANADA, an activity whose development belongs almost entirely to the post-war period, continues its expansion in a yet more remarkable manner. At the end of 1927 the capital invested in the industry stood at $22,327,818, which was more than double the amount in 1926, $10,019,519, due to two new plants establishing. During the year, 467 employees were added, to make a total of 2,890, and their wages and salaries went up by $354,971 to a total of $2,339,971. The cost of materials utilized in the industry rose from $3,472,965 to $4,016,631, and the gross value of production from $8,507,153 to $9,570,917. This is substantially the greatest production the industry has ever recorded, an almost unbroken rise featuring its progress. Compared with the year 1917 there is an increase for the ten years of over 900 per cent. in capitalization and over 300 per cent. in the value of production.

There are in all fourteen plants engaged in the industry, nine of which are located in Quebec and five in Ontario, one having been added in each province in the course of the year. Quebec's capitalization at $16,255,544 was substantially greater than that of Ontario at $6,072,274. The general tendency towards concentration in industrial enterprises is also evident in this industry, there being three plants capitalized at over $1,000,000 and five between $500,000 and $1,000,000, while two have productions of over $1,000,000 and four between $500,000 and $1,000,000. The average capital investment per factory increased from $834,960 in 1926 to $1,594,844 in 1927, owing to the increase of two in the number of plants reporting, while the average production per plant declined from $708,930 to $683,637, owing to the fact that these two new plants were not operating during the year. There is, therefore, every indication that the production of the industry was substantially augmented in 1928 and will continue to increase in 1929 as the new establishments come into fuller operation.

The silk industry furnishes another example of an industry built up and developing on extraneous raw material through which Canada is endeavoring to achieve an independence of imported manufactures. The success the activity is accomplishing in going further to meet home consumption is evidenced in its increasing production with increasing figures of imported raw materials and declining ones of fabricated products. Between 1926 and 1927 there was an appreciable decline in the import of silk manufactures and in 1928 the figures of silk fabrics imported declined by $1,972,000.

GENERAL McRAE'S OPPOSITION

WHEN THE MARINE AND FISHERIES Committee met at Ottawa yesterday to continue discussion of the Sockeye Salmon Treaty, General McRae wanted to know who drafted the treaty, and added he had been told by his legal friends that it was drafted "very amateurishly."

Those who are familiar with the technical features of the new pact know that its provisions were drafted by experts in the fishery business with the complete approval of the fishermen and cannery interests, that legal experts subsequently approved the document in its entirety. The General says "every man on the Pacific Coast wants a sockeye salmon fishery treaty, but only a few want this treaty." This contention is in direct opposition to the information in the hands of the Government of this Province. We suggest that General McRae would have been nearer the mark if he had said that British Columbia wanted this treaty.

General McRae objects to the treaty also because the boundary in the north takes in a little more territory than did the pact of 1919. If he had asked the reason for this he would have discovered that, as far as lay in their power, the experts who have been engaged in the investigations for so long have included almost all waters, in both Canadian and United States territory, through which sockeye salmon are known to have passed on their ascent up the Fraser. That is the object of the treaty—to protect all those fish, not only some of them.

We are reminded, incidentally, by The Vancouver Daily Province—which, naturally, has considered this treaty from the point of view of British Columbia interests, and not those of certain interests in Toronto—of Mr. Babcock's oft-repeated statement that when the sockeye run to the Fraser shall have been restored to its original condition, the industry will produce an annual revenue of something like $30,000,000. "British Columbia needs her share of that revenue," our contemporary properly points out. "The Salmon Treaty is so drawn as to give it to us, and the sooner it goes into effect, the better British Columbia will like it."

WILL BE SETTLED AMICABLY

THE LONDON NATION SEEMS TO BE disturbed by Mr. C. H. Cahan's description of the sinking of the I'm Alone as "either an act of war or deliberate piracy." Our London contemporary says no good can be done and much harm may be done by such utterances. This is quite true; but Mr. Cahan is prone to make extreme statements at times in the Canadian Parliament, some of which must appear foolish to him when he sees them in cold print.

It is admitted that the sinking of the I'm Alone was a most unfortunate incident; but the tone of the protest which went from the Canadian Government to Washington, none the less the manner in which it was received in the United States capital, indicated from the outset that dignity and firmness had marked the exchange. With very little trouble—and at no time was there any danger of an open rupture—an agreement was reached to submit the whole matter to arbitration, as many other equally knotty problems involving the two countries have been submitted in the past. At those proceedings there no doubt will be plain talk. Canada submits that a grave international principle has been violated and she will require strong proof that she is wrong before she surrenders her right to adequate compensation. But it will all be settled amicably, and no doubt satisfactorily.

MRS. LONGWORTH STEPS IN

Regardless of how feverishly Washington may be buzzing with it, we are rather relieved, we must confess, that the Secretary of State has felt disposed to keep out of this controversy over Mrs. Gann, sister of Mr. Curtis, our Vice-president. To keep out of it he may have had to do a little side-stepping, such lively sidestepping, in fact, that his steps somewhat resembled a jig; still, even that is better than to have the Secretary of State embroiled in a dispute whereof the only issue is whether Mrs. Gann shall sit here or whether she shall sit there. But when Mrs. Alice Longworth gets into it, our feelings are entirely different. We sit back, leave such a sigh of content as we have not heaved since Jack Dempsey last climbed through the ropes, and wait confidently for developments. For Mrs. Longworth and Jack Dempsey have this much in common: they are not generous. Whatever they do, you may be pretty sure it will be different from what anybody else would do. And there are duller things in the world than a controversy between Mrs. Longworth and Mrs. Gann as to where Mrs. Gann shall sit. In fact, it seems to us that such a controversy is just what is needed to liven things up. It had looked like a dull year, what with the election being over and one thing and another. But it doesn't look like a dull year now. Let the correspondents down in Washington whittle their pencils and prepare to file long despatches. We thirst for details.

A THOUGHT

Loose Ends

Mr. Ochs makes a profound mistake—which he would realize if he could come to this Island—and see a real bush farm—literature grows starker—and advertising grows literary.

By H. B. W.

MR. ADOLPH S. OCHS, successful publisher of The New York Times, and a great power in the Republic (yes, as you suspect, I am merely using his name as a convenient peg so I can hang upon it certain reflections which cannot stand on their own feet), recently made this pointed announcement: "A successful man is not a remarkable thing. From the standpoint of Times Square Mr. Ochs may be right. From any other standpoint he is quite wrong. A wealthy man may not be a remarkable thing, and the steel and concrete jungles of lower Manhattan Island are full of them. But a successful man is a most remarkable thing. Among a few large acquaintances with men of all kinds I know of only a few successful ones, and of some of them very few have heard."

It would amaze Mr. Ochs if he could see one of my successful men. Mr. Ochs might indeed put him down among the vast army of life's hopeless failures. This successful man came out here from England with his wife a few years ago and settled on a bush farm on the Island. Of his ten acres some three were cleared, half the remainder were covered with a wilderness of great fir stumps, back of them again the dark primeval forest stood ever ready to reclaim this pathetic clearing again for its own, and a dark, mossy swamp of willows and alders stood in one corner of his place like a sentry. The new settler showed the first elements of success when against his neighbors' advice, he started by clearing the swamp of its tangled growth of trees, dug long ditches through it and with heart-breaking labor drained and cultivated it.

Between the giant stumps he planted fruit trees, a dozen young money on a cow, half a dozen young pigs and a few chickens. Altogether it was a pretty hopeless-looking little patch set among the gaunt, resentful forest around it. * * *

SOME YEARS have passed since this man bought his farm. The other day when I visited him there was not a stump left in the ten acres. Five sleek-looking cows were in the big shade-roofed barn, ready for the evening's milking, a hundred chickens were eating their supper, the fruit trees, now grown to respectable size, had just finished blooming; two acres of potatoes were coming up, near them was an acre of lush clover, and the old swamp had become the finest truck garden I have ever seen. There were huge rhubarb plants down one fence, against the edge of the forest, there were hundred-yard rows of onions and carrots, just showing above the rich, moist earth, peas climbing up their stakes, the red-and-green leaves of young beets and the luscious foliage of matured spinach. All this that man and his wife have done alone, without money, without aid from anybody, and without grumbling. From the garden, the little herd of cows and the chickens, comes their food, all they want of it, and the best. From the woods in the winter they get an occasional deer or grouse. From the store three times a week they get a few groceries. From a newspaper once a week their only contact with the outside world. From a logging camp, which buys everything they can grow, they receive a few hundred dollars every year more than they can spend, and which will keep them some day when they are ready to rest. And though the work-filled years have taken their toll, this man, as he surveys his little fields holding their own against the grim forest, gets from his life a chosen feeling of accomplishment and content which I am sure Mr. Ochs and his unremarkably successful men on the jostling pavements of Broadway can never know.

IN LITERATURE especially, the more things seem to change, the more they are the same. Just as we were going to the brutal language of the best current literature, lo, the great world of advertising is soothing our minds with literary cadences, approached only in the flowery classical school of Pope and Dryden. The mode of the day seems to require that all advertising of high-class goods shall be couched in the manner of Chesterfield, and a really well-done bit of advertising copy reads like the fulsome request of your country cousin for the pleasure of your company at dinner at half past eight. R.R.V.P. While the great creative artists of the day are outdoing one another in rugged, rugged and ruthless language, the progressive companies assure you that if you love truly fine things, the perfect embodiment of man's artistic genius, you will enjoy the smooth elegance, the old-world charm, the Puritanical austerity intermingled with the Grecian simplicity, and yet punctuated with flashes of a Renaissance note that is almost spiritual—if, in short, you are a man of cultured taste, you will joy in the power and abandon of our new super-class two-door coupe, washing machine, or vacuum cleaner.

THERE IS none of this charm in your model novel. "I was still angry," says a sentence selected at random from a novel now before me, "and as I held her suddenly she shivered. She trembled. She sobbed. I held her close against me and could feel her heart beating, and her head went back against my hand, and then she was crying on my shoulder. 'D— it, what the h—' I thought, and that was the end of it." There is no literary flavor in this high-class fiction, none of the easy elegance of the holiday days which promise you in the Rockies, "gracious old-world hospitality amid settings of primordial magnificence, together with the pervasive charm of leisurely enjoyment so superbly attuned to the spirit of those who understand fine things." And as you travel to this resort you may read a novel called "Murder," "Evil," or "Violence," guaranteed by the publisher to strip the pretence, the outer covering and everything else off life in sentences so sharp and brutal that they seem to stab you in the back.

AFTER A bout with such inspired fiction you turn with a feeling of glorious relief to the advertisements for coupes, washing machines and vacuum cleaners, which you cannot buy and do not want. Artistic fiction is all right but you cannot live on profanity and the worst emotions all the time, and you are almost glad to learn that the new golfing suits are the voice of a calculated reticence in the tailor's art, which provide that subtle aroma of personal distinction which has the cachet of people who really count, even if they cost $75 with an extra pair of pants.

CANADIAN LEGION SCROLL

To the Editor:—A misunderstanding exists in connection with the scrolls of the Canadian Legion propose to introduce into the schools of the Province.

The object is to inspire the children with the spirit of service to humanity and to create an interest in community welfare and give the children an object in life other than dollars and cents. The scroll will commemorate the good deeds of known and unknown men and women, whose service has led to world progress.

It has no reference to war service, but is entirely devoted to recognition of the heroes of peace who were children before they left the schoolroom to take up responsibilities in the regular walks of life.

Twelve months of misunderstanding prevented earlier action, and it is unfortunate that the public still looks upon the idea as one conceived for the purpose of glorifying war.

TO GIVE BUFFALO NAMES

Historic and romantic associations are now creeping into the name suggestions for Victoria's two buffaloes. Deep into books of Indian lore and history study have contributors delved to secure for the animals titles befitting their dignity and yet easily spoken.

"Prairie Wolf," who has evidently a knowledge of the great open spaces, heads an interesting list of suggestions with "Tutumnah," and "Nokomis," the former being an Indian of historical renown and the latter a legendary Indian lady. Kelsey, said to be the first white man in the employ of the Hudson's Bay Company to see a herd of buffalo on the prairie, might well have his name perpetuated in this manner, while "Elsie" would suit as the name of the female, he suggests.

David Smart of Willows School reveals the romantic mind of a red-blooded youth with his "Pint" and "Feather," while fourteen-year-old Bernard Woodhouse, West Saanich, would like "Robin Hood" and "Maid Marian."

In honor of the brave dog Sheep, which the story, "The Thundering Herd," tells about, Mrs. M. Semple of Glyn P.O. would have the male named after it, while the female, as a "good friendly pal," she would call "Sally." But, as E. W. White, 1334 Mitchell Street, points out, "Victoria" and "Albert" are proper names befitting the city animals. With these titles, they could be called "Queenie" and "Bert" as nicknames.

More dignified still are the names "King Tut" and "Sheba," suggested by Miss Eleanor Peden, 821 Princess Avenue. But why not "Henry" and "Lizzie," says Miss Peden in lighter vein.

FLIERS GIVEN REWARDS FOR LONG FLIGHTS

Robbins and Kelly will receive $5,500 each from the Port Worth Association of Commerce and $5,000 will be divided between K. K. Hoffman and H. S. Jones, who refused the endurance ship during its flight. More than seven days, which ended Sunday afternoon.

Approximately $2,000 will be paid to Robbins and Kelly by aircraft companies which offered the men $100 an hour for each hour they exceeded the former record of 150 hours, 40 minutes, 15 seconds, set by the United States army monoplane Question Mark.

The barograph of the Port Worth today was on its way to Washington, where it will be examined before official recognition will be accorded the new record.

TO RECONDITION SHIP

Still in remarkably good condition, considering the long hours it was in the air, the Port Worth rested today in the municipal hangar, guarded from souvenir hunters. The ship probably will be reconditioned for further use. Mechanics said the plane and the Wright Whirlwind motor were in such shape that the flight could have been continued many hours longer had it not been for the severe vibrations caused by the unbalanced propeller.

The propeller, dented on the second day of the flight when it struck Kelly's safety belt while he was perched under the nose of the plane greasing the motor, developed a deep crack from the beating rain through which the slip flew Saturday night. The rain also split the blades.

Cosseted cowering on both sides of the fuselage showed the strain under which the plane had labored after the propeller had been damaged. A few ribs in the aluminum stream lining of the wing struts were the only other marks the plane bore.

BEAUTIFUL COMOX VALLEY

Aerial view of Courtenay, commercial centre of rich Comox Valley, one of the most thriving agricultural communities of Vancouver Island.

GRAPHIC PEN TELLS SCOTS OF COURTENAY

"That Blessed Word 'Comox' in the Scottish Field Tells of This Island"

Typical of the excellent publicity enjoyed by Vancouver Island, in Great Britain, is an illustrated article on Comox, from the pen of Frank Glime published in the April issue of the Scottish Field, published in Glasgow, and circulating in the finest homes of North Britain.

The article is entitled "That Blessed Word 'Comox'" and is one of a long series placed in the British press by co-operation between Mr. Glime of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau and W. A. MacAdam, secretary to F. A. Pauline, Agent-General for British Columbia in London.

This article, and the accompanying illustration, are as follows: "One day some thirty years ago I was sitting idly on the beach at Tangiers watching cattle being swung on to a dirty freighter. Standing near me, also leisurely watching the same scene, was a short, thick-set man, obviously British, seafarer, and a navy man at that. His slovenly clothes and slouch showed he no longer belonged to the senior service, but his finely-developed chest and neck just as surely indicated that at some time he had served in the British Navy.

"That's a dago way of handling cattle," he remarked. "And they're poor dago cattle at that. Just the kind of beasts you'd expect Moors and half-breed Spaniards to raise. All bone and horn and sinew, eh? And yet there are parts of this damned country where you can raise anything."

He stopped for a moment to refill his pipe, and then continued: "A great country if it wasn't for the people; but they're no good." He was silent for a minute or so, while his eyes roved along the white beach of the crescent bay of Tangiers. Then he said: "I don't know why, but whenever I see cattle or chickens or the nigger slaves bringing down crates of eggs at Tangiers, I always think of Comox."

He drew thoughtfully on his pipe for a few moments, then exclaimed: "Comox! Ah! with a shake of his hand: 'Now, that's a real place.' 'Comox,' I repeated. 'What is it—a city or country? I've never heard of it.' 'Then,' he answered, 'you've never been out on the Pacific coast off the Coast of British Columbia and up the Inside Passage from Victoria and Esquimalt between Vancouver Island and the Mainland. A real country that—mountains and valleys and islands and lots of sunlight, but never too hot for a white man. Yes, a white man's and the pipe of the whole province, to my mind, is Comox."

WHAT IT SHOULD BE "I remember," he continued as he sat down beside me, "the first time I saw it, we went for gunnery practice from Esquimalt. A hundred and fifty miles up the Inside Passage, with the sea as smooth and blue as this bay, and to the east the big mountains of the Mainland, with snow on the tops of lots of them, while westward lay Vancouver Island, covered as thickly with green forest as a meadow is with grass. It was the end of September (early autumn, you'll understand—they call it the fall out there), and there was a kind of smoke haze in the air and the smell of smouldering wood. Have you ever smelt alder or willow burning in the open? I don't know why, but if you get that smell in your nose in the autumn, it makes you kind of homesick for the land and a shore berth, and all that kind of thing. Well, I was thinking of just that—of farming and a farmhouse and my own, with home-cured hams hanging from the rafters and the barn full and money in the bank—when we swung round into Comox Bay. It was about 5 o'clock and the sun was setting over the hills behind the bay. I want to tell you that the valley didn't look real. No, sir, it was too good—more like a play scene. Too good; everything right and shipshape, just as a man thinks a farming valley should be. Green fields with cattle and farmhouse right down to the water's edge and a winding river, and farther back, green forest climbing up the misty blue hills, and behind those, real mountains and a glacier green and pink in the sunlight. All green and peaceful and home like, with a kind of avenue of copper-leafed maples and dogwood trees growing along one side of the bay.

"I've been in most parts of this old world, but I've never seen another valley like that. Why, even the name is right. You know how it is most homes don't mean anything or they mean just what a place isn't. Just like it is with people. Comox—it's an Indian word meaning happy, contented, plenty, rich, good, smiling, welcome, well-fed. And these words, all of them, give about the best description of Comox Valley that I know of. The people are happy and contented, they have plenty to eat and do, many of them are rich (as farmers go). The soil is good, and the countryside smiling.

WHITE MAN'S COUNTRY "A white man's farming country, you understand, with just enough rain and sun to make things grow. A great place for dairy cows, butter, milk and eggs and pork, when they get transportation to the mainland and big cities have grown up there. One of these days I'm going back to Comox to live the real life and forget all about the sea."

I do not know whether he ever did go back. But I know there were some ten years later and found it just as he had said—a delectable land, a land, metaphorically speaking, flowing with milk and honey.

MUCH PROGRESS

Of course, if my acquaintance of Tangiers beach went back to the time he would find that many important changes have taken place. He would see that farms have encroached on the forests in many parts, during the years he had been away. He would find the people richer and many more of them; he would see that the farms are bigger and better tilled, and cultivated with the latest machinery and buildings and houses more modern and better built. He would find a railroad and motor roads and steamers giving good transportation and freight facilities to the hungry markets of the Mainland and the big logging camps on Vancouver Island. He would find that the little village of Courtenay of his day has grown into a prosperous market town founded on agriculture, logging and coal mining. He would find good schools, friendly churches, hospitals, stores, banks, hotels and a golf course, from which latter he could always see the Comox glacier shining pink, green or blood-red, as the sun happened to strike it.

GAME AND FISH

In the foothills he would find many deer and grouse, bear and cougar, and in the streams many trout, and in the bay many tyes and coho salmon. Yes, he would find that Comox, with the rest of British Columbia, is growing up and filling up. But if he came back to-day there would be no need for him to change even one inch of the word-picture he painted for me on the beach at Tangiers, over thirty years ago, for Comox is still true to its name—a rich land, a land of plenty. Listen. Only recently I had the pleasure of talking about this valley to an immensely wealthy gentleman from California, who was searching the world with a fine toothcomb for an ideal dairy farming district. You know the kind of man, an owner of mines and ships and stocks and bonds, who suddenly feels he must go in for farming. He went to Comox, and then sent his experts up there to also see out the land and report. He was willing to buy the whole centre of the valley, some ten farms, but he must have all. Five of the farmers would not sell, would not even set a price on their land. Can you blame them? Would you sell your portion of Paradise? Both thermosyphon and pump are used.

However, there is no need for you to lose heart thinking that the gate to this delectable land is barred against you. There are lots of farms and country homes that one can buy, some small and as trim and particular as a Dutch bulb garden, others almost as wild and unkempt as when man took them over from Nature. Yes, Comox, that valley of plenty, still welcomes you.

Motor Executives Show Confidence

New York, May 28.—The Wall Street Journal says that canvases of leading executives in the motor industry indicated the industry not only has been developing along sound lines this year, but its present position gives every basis for confidence in the future. From conferences held with the leading executives of the largest companies, it is apparent that prospects are viewed within the industry are in marked contrast to the bearish rumors which have accompanied unsettledness in motor shares during the recent market break. These conferences included officials of General Motors, Chrysler, Hudson, Studebaker and Packard.

Mrs. J. A. Stewart in Presidential Address Urges Need to Inculcate British Ideals

Reference Made to Plans for Commemoration of Non-stop Flight of Alcock and Brown

That each member of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire educate herself in the work to be done by the order as a whole, to be accompanied by co-operation between the different chapters, was the plea made by Mrs. John A. Stewart of Perth, Ont., in her presidential address at the opening of the National Chapter's twenty-ninth annual meeting last night.

She also urged each member to work for an increase in membership, wholehearted support of the order's education and immigration policies, child welfare activities, and steady progress in the formation of girl and young women's groups as a means to draw the younger generations of women into the order's ranks.

WAR MEMORIAL
"It is each member makes some contribution along these lines the progress in the next twelve months will be an amazing one," Mrs. Stewart said.

Mrs. Stewart said the most important matter of the order's internal politics that would come before the order this year was the question of the administration of the war memorial. The president recalled that on the question being raised last year as to the legality of such administration in the past, a committee was appointed by the national chapter to take action to establish such legality and to put the war memorial on a basis that could not be questioned. After the committee had worked on the matter with the order's legal advisers, the results would be laid before the delegates for their endorsement at this meeting, she said.

LEGISLATIVE ACTION
The memorial committee, she said, had a difficult task and had given of their best to ensure smooth sailing for those who would administer the order in the future. Mrs. Stewart said it was necessary to go before the Provincial Legislature and secure an act that established the right of the national chapter to administer the war memorial fund for all time through its committee appointed for that purpose.

The last year had been one of importance to the order in more ways than one, the president said. It started with the order's tour of English schoolgirls, of which the delegates would receive full reports during the meeting. This "very successful piece of Empire propaganda," she said, demonstrated that the order's most valuable asset was the spirit of unity, which should be fostered and guarded by each and every member as part of her personal obligation.

IMMIGRATION
The president urged the delegates to study carefully the report on immigration, closely allied with the order's education work, to be presented to the meeting.

"Our organization, by its very being," she said, "has put itself on record as being concerned with the building up of a strong Canadian citizenship, British in its ideals, traditions and affiliations, so it behooves us to watch this question very carefully and to do our share, perhaps even more than our share, in ensuring this result."

After referring to the recent ceremony at Ottawa where the presentation of the order's founders, the late Mrs. Clark Murray, was unveiled in the Archives Building, Mrs. Stewart discussed the child welfare work of the order.

FAR-FLUNG UNITS OF I.O.D.E. DOING PATRIOTIC WORK

Reports of Chapters in Bahamas, Bermuda and in U.S. Feature Session

The strengthening of the bonds of Empire by the promotion of the highest ideals of British citizenship in Canada in Bermuda, the Bahamas, and Newfoundland, together with the fostering, through the medium of its sister society, the Daughters of the British Empire, of friendly relations in the United States, formed the keynote of the interesting reports presented at the opening business session of the National Chapter Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire this morning. Mrs. John A. Stewart, national president, was in the chair.

It will be of interest to the many friends in Victoria of Miss Ursula Whitehead, R.N., to learn that she received from McGill University a first class certificate in teaching in schools was nursing. Miss Whitehead is one of the popular graduates of the Training School for Nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital, and prior to leaving for Montreal, where she is acting as night supervisor at the Jubilee Hospital.

Mrs. C. Palmer McAllister of Vancouver entertained at a luncheon party at the Empress Hotel to-day when her guests included Mrs. Kenneth Campbell, St. John, N.B.; Mrs. H. F. McLeod, Fredericton, N.B.; Mrs. Hatch, Mrs. R. Rutter, Toronto; Mrs. W. H. Belson, Mrs. Strath, Toronto; and Mrs. A. J. Paterson, Mrs. George W. Seymour, Mrs. Robert Christie, Mrs. Frank Stead, and Mrs. F. E. Burke, all of Vancouver.

Members of the 1929 graduating class of St. Joseph's Hospital and Miss Mitchell, superintendent of nursing, were guests of honor at a dinner given last night by the Jubilee Hospital Alumnae Association at the James Bay Hotel. About seventy guests were present, and Mrs. W. F. Chambers, the president, was chairman. During the evening bouquets were presented to Mrs. Chambers and to Miss Mitchell.

Following dinner a musical program was enjoyed in the music room.

The home of Mrs. George Hughes, 3126 Balfour Avenue, was the scene of a happy gathering of friends in honor of Mrs. O. M. Prentice, on the tenth anniversary of her wedding. She was the guest of honor at a dinner given at the home of Mrs. W. F. Chambers, the president, was chairman. During the evening bouquets were presented to Mrs. Chambers and to Miss Mitchell.

Messages of greeting and good wishes were also received from Miss R. W. Church, Mrs. Fetherston Haugh, Mrs. Doolittle and Miss Constance Lang, all ex-officers of the chapter, and from Mrs. J. A. Wilson, president of the National Council of Women.

The work of the Daughters of the British Empire, the national society in the United States which is affiliated with the National I.O.D.E., was reviewed in an interesting report from Mrs. Edward G. Marks of Arlington, New Jersey, the president.

This order constitutes "a group of incorporated societies," she said, "taking part according to its ability, in fostering friendly relationship and in reaching out a helping hand to the fellow-countrymen in distress or sorrow, each group as a whole enthusiastically supporting the district home already established or promoting a home where as yet there is none," the report noted.

"Celebrations of St. George's Day, Empire Day, harvest festivals, Armistice Day are more and more popular and well attended, and in the great cities our Chapters work with the Red Cross, visit British soldiers in hospitals, and in the most unobtrusive way are doing much to help the distressed fellow countrymen and women."

HOMES FOR AGED BRITISHERS
Reference was made to the philanthropic work, the maintenance in each district of a home for aged Britishers. A new home, purchased at Ossining, New York, last year for this purpose had been opened by the British Ambassador, Sir Esme Howard, and can accommodate twenty-seven guests. Every room is filled and already there is a waiting list of between sixty or seventy applicants, British-born persons, who, independent or self-supporting in earlier years, are now through force of circumstances, destitute. The Middle West Home at Riverside, Illinois, is also doing similar good work.

Mrs. Marks further noted in her report: "We have shared with the I.O.D.E. profound anxiety for the welfare of His Majesty the King. We have joined you in prayers and hopes for his recovery and we hope on June 16 to unite with you in heartfelt thanks for the restoration of the King to health."

WORK IN THE BAHAMAS
In the Bahamas, the I.O.D.E. at Nassau undertook the sale of poppies at the Armistice period, thereby raising the sum of £155 which was forwarded to the British Legion for the Earl Haig fund. Another undertaking was the opening for four days of a bazaar for H.M. Capelton, a boon to the members of the crew. Alexandra Rose Day was held in aid of the infant welfare work.

Other philanthropies included the sending of £20 to the Imperial Hospital in London, the giving of £15 towards the passage-money to England of an ex-serviceman, gifts of money and clothing to the homeless and destitute by a bad hurricane and other undertakings, according to the report presented at the meeting.

BERMUDAS CHAPTER
In the Bermudas, according to the report of the National Chapter of the island, the membership now stands at 353, and the sum of £366 was raised last year. During the year five girls and two boys had been helped to higher education through the medium of scholarships given by the Chapters. The sale of poppies at Armistice period raised the splendid sum of £256, the largest ever realized, £50 of which was sent to the Earl Haig fund; £68 to the British Legion, and the balance to the local scholarship fund.

Members of the order had visited the schools throughout the island on Empire Day with an appropriate message, and other patriotic work had been undertaken with much success. The reports of these far-flung units of the Order were received with much interest and enthusiastic applause.

WORK IN INDIA
Reporting for the work in India, Mrs. F. J. Greenaway of London, Ontario, convenor of the committee, noted that one of the most important gatherings in the history of the Indian Empire was that when forty ruling princes met in Delhi to express unswerving loyalty to the British Crown.

The two channels in India through which the chapters in Canada work are the Kaiser-i-Hind Chapter at Focna, of which Miss Susie Sorby is regent, and the Canadian hospital at

National Secretary Tells of Year's Achievements; 21 New Chapters

Many and varied accomplishments of the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, during the last year, are summarized in the report by Mrs. Lily Barker of Toronto, national secretary, delivered to the national convention this afternoon. She cited the nationwide resolution protesting against alleged removal of the insignia "G.R." from postoffice plant and equipment; co-operation by means of Echoes with the Empire Marketing Board, co-operation in the Empire Shopping Week movement, continued propaganda on behalf of good British motion picture films and the conducting of the tour of Canada by British school girls.

"The Economic League of London, England, solicited our co-operation in the dissemination of anti-communistic propaganda," her report said. "While in sympathy with the movement, the executive committee felt that the most effective way in which the order can combat this menace is to strengthen and extend its present educational program."

NEW CHAPTERS FORMED
Twenty-one new chapters were formed last year, it was reported by Miss Louise M. Vroom of St. John, N.B., national organizing secretary. Seven of these were in Ontario, six in Quebec, five in Alberta and three in New Brunswick. At the same time fourteen were disbanded.

The report stressed the encouraging outlook particularly in Quebec province, where a decided interest in the work of the order is noticeably in many of the outlying districts and industrial towns.

The use of historic names for new chapters had been continually urged on provincial organizing secretaries, the report added.

NAVY LEAGUE REPORT
Mrs. Finess of Quebec presented the report of the Navy League of Canada, telling of the progress made in this branch of Empire building. She reviewed the undertakings of the various chapters along the lines of gifts to sea cadet corps, to sailors' homes at the ports of Canada, and of the observance of great naval anniversaries. A total of over $4,500 was contributed by the chapters to the Navy League last year.

A letter from the Victoria League of London, England, which is affiliated with the I.O.D.E., conveyed cordial greetings, and spoke of the league's overseas scholars attending English universities. Reference was also made to the appointment of Miss Elizabeth Montzambert as the I.O.D.E. representative on the Victoria League.

Mrs. R. C. Marshall of Edmonton, provincial president of Alberta, as convenor of the publicity committee, spoke of the generosity of the daily press in according space to reports of the order's activities. The radio had also been used to advantage in the

It is an unnatural woman who does not appreciate as a high compliment the remark: "Everything she does is in good taste." Many women, whose opportunities for self-development in such a way are limited, often despair of becoming quite sure of themselves and their surroundings. To such women I advise in all sincerity a closer study.

of the Lieutenant-Governor, and he wished them every success in every branch of their many and varied undertakings.

PREMIER'S WELCOME

Premier Tolmie, tendering greetings on behalf of the Provincial Government, spoke of British Columbia's pride in welcoming such a distinguished body of women. After touching upon the social and patriotic service of the order and its ramifications in many parts of the Empire, he congratulated the I.O.D.E. for the splendid service they had rendered to Canada by helping to unify all its provinces into one whole, indissolubly bound by highest ideals to the Motherland.

In former times there was rivalry between the west and east. British Columbia was now doing fairly well with her own resources. This Province realized that the "wise men came from the east," but they also realized that the wisest they were the sooner they came west. The sooner east and west blended the sooner would there be a united Canada, said the Premier.

Coming west the eastern delegates had seen something of the great wheatlands which last year produced 500,000,000 bushels of wheat, and they had also seen something of the mineral belt. Coming further they would appreciate the possibilities of development of commerce on the Pacific coast, where the ports were open all the year round, and where the European market was accessible to Canadian wheat through the Panama Canal route as cheaply as via the Great Lakes and eastern ports.

CIVIC GREETINGS

Mayor Ansonb supplemented the official welcome with a cordial greeting on behalf of the city of Victoria. Although Victoria was the most westerly point in the British Empire, his worship was convinced that nowhere, even nearer to the centre of the Empire, could be found a greater loyalty to the order's motto of "One Flag, One Throne, One Empire."

The Mayor continued: "In these

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MRS. ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

Mrs. A. F. O. writes:

"I am writing to you again, for your advice before, was a wonderful help to me. For a July baby should silk and wool shirts be used? Does a child need to wear the bands after two years or age?"

"I have always maintained that regular hours are the main thing. 'Mine' was always kept on strict schedule. Some say some babies can be regulated and some can't, that nursing babies can't be regulated like bottle ones. Is that true?"

"My baby, nearly three, sleeps thirteen hours at night and one to three hours in daytime. I am told she sleeps too much. She is very intelligent, feeds herself entirely, talks more than most children her age. I have raised her by the book and I am satisfied. I get so disgusted with people who make a toy of a child, and then wonder why he is cross. Your advice is wonderful and so easy to understand. I shall watch for your answer."

ANSWER

Cotton shirts are in order for the summer baby. The first binder may be knitted silk and wool or cotton and wool, and also the first band (used when the navel is healed), but a cotton shirt over this and no wool any place else in the wardrobe, flannel nightgowns and thin dresses and petticoats. Make them short. The older child does not need a band this year, nor does she need cod liver oil now.

Violin and piano selections by the Misses Irene Black and Eileen Dumbleton, and the singing of "Two Roses" and "The Wind," by the Schubert Club, followed by the National Anthem, concluded the programme.

ONLY FEW SAW LINDBERGH WED

Exchanged Vows With Ann Morrow in Garden of Englewood Home

No Bridesmaid For Bride, No Best Man For Lone Eagle At Simple Ceremony

Englewood, N.J., May 28.—Taking a waiting room completely by surprise, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his bride, the former Anne Morrow, were away on a honeymoon to-day.

The marriage took place without previous announcement at 4 p.m. yesterday in the drawing-room of the home of the bride's father, Ambassador D. W. Morrow. Half an hour later the couple drove away from the estate unaccompanied, apparently bound for New York.

OMIT "OBEY"

Rev. Dr. William Adam Brown, professor of Union Theological Seminary, performed the ceremony in which a simplified form of the marriage service, with the word "obey" omitted, was used. He is a Presbyterian, as are members of the Morrow family.

Only members of the Morrow family and Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, the colonel's mother, witnessed the ceremony.

So quietly and quickly was the wedding held that it was nearly three hours before the public knew the marriage on which its attention had been centred since the announcement of the engagement, February 12 last, had taken place.

SIMPLE DRESS

The bride wore a simple white chiffon dress with short veil, made for her by Miss Mary Smith, family dressmaker for years. She wore no gloves, but carried a bouquet of blue larkspur plucked from the Morrow garden just beneath the drawing-room where the couple exchanged their vows.

SMALL WEDDING PARTY

Col. Lindbergh and his fiancée went for a ride in the afternoon and stopped for a brief visit at the home of a friend in Englewood. Shortly after their return a small wedding party gathered in the drawing-room and centred about the minister. There were no bridesmaids, no best men, no music, it was stated authoritatively—just the brief ceremony of the Presbyterian Church.

order, which she said was a very valuable contribution to the national well-being. "What if the year had been nothing very conspicuous reported, she said steady progress had been made in the various undertakings to build up Canadian citizenship along healthy, sane, British lines."

GIRL GUIDE WORK

The report of the national director of girl guide companies was a very encouraging feature of this year's work. Mrs. Stewart said, and the importance of this department could hardly be over-estimated.

"We must gain and retain the interest of the younger generations if the order is to continue its growth in the future as in the past," Mrs. Stewart said. "I would urge on every chapter, where it is possible, that they interest themselves in some way in girl guide companies, irrespective of whether they are companies formed by our own organization or otherwise."

Mrs. Stewart reported some slight increase in the order's membership this year, but she urged the chapters to concentrate on a much greater increase for the year to come. As the work of the order grew in breadth and importance the cost of its administration was bound to rise in proportion, she said, and this should be met by a larger membership.

TO CONCENTRATE ON ORDER

There was a tendency among the chapters to support many outside agencies, Mrs. Stewart said, and she urged the chapters to concentrate on the order's work and support the order's own causes first before contributing both in work and money to other objects. Declaring that unity of thought and effort for the good of the order was of great importance, she urged the chapters to get together, work together, grow together, so that they would deserve the compliment paid by an officer of another nationwide organization, "that no body of men or women outside our Dominion Parliament can speak with such a national voice as the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire."

"No generation in the history of mankind have ever had the responsibilities to the future that our generations have to-day, especially in a new and potential country such as this Dominion," Mrs. Stewart said. "When you become a member of this order, you admit such responsibilities and it is only by helping each other, building up our order, increasing our membership and closing up our ranks that we can fulfil the great destiny that lies before us as a loyal body of British women in this our beloved land, the leading Dominion of our great Empire."

TO COMMEMORATE FLIGHT

Reference to the plans of the order to commemorate on June 14 the tenth anniversary of the first transatlantic non-stop flight, successfully made by Captain Alcock and Lieutenant Brown, British flyers, was made by Mrs. Stewart.

After expressing gratitude for the co-operation of the press and radio broadcasting agencies in the commemoration, Mrs. Stewart recalled the two British flyers flew from St. John's, Newfoundland, to Clifden, Galway, Ireland, a distance of 1,800 miles in fifteen hours, fifty-seven minutes, in a British-designed British-built aeroplane and engine.

"Your executive felt that in initiating this commemoration of a magnificent achievement, which has been more or less lost sight of in the future created by more recent flights, they were keeping up their programme of imperial propaganda," the president said. "One feature which makes the Alcock-Brown flight the most remarkable transatlantic flight ever accomplished is that it was done ten years ago in a plane which naturally was not nearly so developed as those which succeeded (or even failed) in later flights. His majesty emphasized the greatness of this pioneer feat by conferring a knighthood on both the flyers."

NATIONAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN OPEN SESSION TO-DAY

Saskatoon Scene of Gathering; Women to Weld Country Together, Says Speaker

Saskatoon, May 28.—As a preliminary to the general session of the National Council of Women, opening at the University of Saskatchewan this morning, fifty of the eighty delegates expected were guests of the Women's Canadian Club of Saskatoon at a dinner last night.

Mrs. Robert Forke, president of the Ottawa Local Council of Women and Mrs. Harry Carpenter of Hamilton brought greetings and in brief addresses stressed the value of national unity in which the hope of Canadian future lies.

Mrs. J. A. Wilson, Ottawa, president of the national council, extended cordial thanks to the delegates to the hostesses of the evening.

"In the vital questions which affect the home and the community," said Mrs. Forke, "women everywhere are like-minded." She applied to women the statement made by Hon. R. B. Bennett: "The best evidence of a sound democracy is the interest the people take in public welfare." The women of Canada, she declared, were needed to hold the line against the enemies of national idealism. She registered evidence of sectionalism in a young country and looked to its women to help weld the nation into a unity truly Canadian.

Mrs. Carpenter, who took the place of Miss Winnifred Kydd, brought greetings from the Women's Canadian Club in Hamilton, where the Canadian Club originated. She registered evidence of sectionalism in a young country and looked to its women to help weld the nation into a unity truly Canadian.

Local Sports to Benefit by Improved Playing Grounds

Association to Go Ahead With Plans For Better Fields

Victoria Playing Fields Association Has Been Formed and Has Fund of $1,000 Already for Important Work; Will Seek New Fields for Cricket and Rugby; Will Ask Various Sports to Stage Benefit Games; Constitution Has Been Drawn Up; Royal Athletic Park to Be Looked After by City.

With over $1,000 in its treasury the Victoria Playing Fields Association is now in a position to go ahead with its work of improving the playing fields of Victoria, according to an announcement made to-day by Alderman W. D. Straith, chairman of the committee, appointed at a meeting organized with the intention of finding ways and means of bettering local grounds. The committee has drawn up a constitution, which will be submitted to members at the annual meeting to be held in October.

The objects of the association are generally to improve the playing fields of all branches of sport in and about the city of Victoria, and to increase the number and size of such fields. The organization will also make surveys of the needs of the city of Victoria and its surrounding municipalities with respect to playing fields, their equipment and facilities. The body will make recommendations to the municipal councils of Victoria and surrounding municipalities for the reservation and acquisition of properties for playing field purposes.

THE MEMBERSHIP
The membership of the association will be composed of those persons who pay the annual fee of $1.
The executive of the association will consist of five directors, two of whom will be appointed by the City Council and the remaining three by the membership at its annual meeting. The directors will appoint their own chairman and secretary-treasurer, who will be the president and secretary-treasurer of the association. The executive of the association will hold office for one year.

The association is now working on the question of obtaining additional playing fields for cricket and rugby teams. The cricketers, having lost the Jubilee Hospital grounds through the construction of the new nurses' home, need another field for their matches. The rugby teams have only the Willows oval to perform on, as Oak Bay is now an open field, making it impossible to charge an admission.

SEEK NEW FIELD
Efforts will be made to have the city set aside a large piece of property for the construction of a new playing field. The move for better playing fields was first instituted by the Junior Chamber of Commerce some time ago. A committee composed of representatives of all branches of sports was named with Alderman Straith as chairman. The constitution for the organization was drawn up by Mr. Straith, V. L. Denton of the Victoria Normal School and Ian Simpson of the University School.

It is the intention of the organization to ask the various branches of sport that are active during the summer months to stage a benefit game, the proceeds to go into the treasury of the playing fields association. The city council has already set aside $5,000 towards the improvement of the Royal Athletic Park.

The constitution follows:
The name of the organization shall be "The Victoria Playing Fields Association."

The objects of the association shall be:
(a) Generally to improve the playing fields of all branches of sport in and about the city of Victoria and to increase the number and size of such playing fields.

(b) To make surveys of the needs of the city of Victoria and its surrounding municipalities with respect to playing fields, their equipment and facilities.
(c) To make recommendations to the municipal councils of the city of Victoria and its surrounding municipalities for the reservation and acquisition of properties for playing field purposes.

(d) To raise funds for the purpose of carrying out the objects of the association.

Any person who shall subscribe to the objects of the association and shall pay the fee as herein provided shall be a member of the association.

The executive of the association shall consist of five directors, two of whom shall be appointed by the council of the city of Victoria, and the remaining three of whom shall be elected by the membership of the association at its annual meeting. The directors shall appoint their own chairman and secretary-treasurer, who shall be the president and secretary-treasurer respectively of the association. The executive of the association shall hold office for one year. The first directors of the association shall hold office from their election to the first annual meeting.

The annual meeting of the association shall be held on a date between the first and third Fridays in October in each year, and other meetings shall be held at the call of the president, provided, however, that a meeting shall be called by the president whenever demanded in writing by seven members of the association. Meetings of the directors shall be at the call of the chair.

Fees shall be $1 per annum and shall become payable on the first day of October in each year.

The first directors of the association shall be elected at the next meeting after the constitution has been approved.

Nine members of the association shall constitute a quorum and a majority of the executive shall constitute an executive quorum.

ATHLETES TAKE PART IN TRIALS

High School Students Preparing For Big Meet to Be Held May 31

Victoria High School athletes yesterday went through the second day of eliminations in preparation for their annual track and field day on May 31. The girls of the school got into action for the first time, when the trials were held in senior, intermediate and junior basketball throw, senior and intermediate seventy-five yards, junior fifty yards and the senior broad jump.

Maxine Ewart, with a leap of 12 feet 3 inches, led the field in the broad jump by over a foot.

The boys' eliminations were very closely contested, especially the intermediate events. When Clyde Van Dusen Won Kentucky Derby Mud, just plenty of mud—but Clyde Van Dusen, gallant gelding son of the noted Man o' War, didn't mind it as he splashed his way to victory in the historic Kentucky Derby. The winner, owned by H. P. Gardner of New York and ridden by "Pony" Meate, led the field all the way. He is shown in the inset above, after he had been given the huge floral bouquet emblematic of the winning horse. A view of the immense throng that braved a downpour in stands and infield to watch the race is shown in the centre.

Saanich Thistles Will Meet Upper Island in Opening Round; Other Local Clubs, Including Victoria City, Victoria Wests and Esquimalt Get Byes; Island Teams Will Play Off to Decide Two Winners.

Although the football season has practically closed, the one big competition of the year, the Connaught Cup series, remains to be played. Four local clubs, Saanich Thistles, Victoria City, local champions, Victoria Wests and Esquimalt have entered the series and will represent the Island along with a representative eleven from the Upper Island.

MIKE M'TIGUE KISSES CANVAS

Veteran Light Heavyweight Knocked Out By George Hoffman in Second Round

New York, May 28.—George Hoffman, former National amateur heavyweight titleholder, knocked out Mike M'Tigue, ex-light-heavyweight titleholder, in the second round of a ten-round match at the St. Nicholas Arena last night.

After a slow first round, devoted to long distance sparring, Hoffman tore into M'Tigue at the start of the second. Two left hooks to the body and a right cross to the jaw had the former 175-pound king groggy, and another terrific right dropped him to the canvas.

At the count of six M'Tigue made a game effort to rise, but fell back, completely out. The end came after 1 minute and 18 seconds of the round.

M'Tigue's comeback campaign thus comes to an end almost before it started. In his first test, several weeks ago, M'Tigue outpointed Paul Hoffman of Hotland, but the American member of the Hoffman clan was more than Mike's match last night.

Battison To Pitch For Buicks To-night

With Battison hurling for them, the Buicks are looking for good things to their encounter with Plumleys in the Garage Baseball League fixture at the Royal Athletic Park this evening. In their last game the Buicks proved too strong for the opposing nine and hope to take the measure of Plumleys this evening.
Walter Hall is expected to take the box for Plumleys.
The game will commence at 6:15 o'clock.

The draw for the first and second rounds of the championship has been made by the British Columbia Football Association which stages the series. Each province throughout the Dominion conducts its own elimination series and the champions then meet in a series to decide the Canadian titleholders. The championship is at present held by the New Westminster Royals. The Royal City has practically the same line-up this season and has a fine chance to lift the title for the second consecutive year.

In the first round of the competition the Saanich Thistles have been drawn against the Upper Island, while the three other local clubs each get a bye. All the teams on the Island will play-off to decide two winners who will meet the mainland champions in the final series.

In the second round the winner of the Upper Island-Thistles match will meet Victoria City, while Esquimalt and the Victoria Wests will tangle.

The draw for the first and second rounds follows:
ISLAND—FIRST ROUND
Upper Island versus Saanich Thistles. Byes—Victoria City, Victoria West and Esquimalt.

SECOND ROUND
Upper Island or Saanich Thistles versus Victoria City.
Esquimalt versus Victoria West.

MAINLAND—QUALIFYING ROUND
Sons of England versus B. C. Telephone.
Renfrew Athletic versus North Vancouver Ex-11th.
Wallabies versus Clan McLean.

SECOND ROUND
Kerrisdale versus St. Andrews.
Renfrew Athletic or North Vancouver Ex-High versus North Shore United.
Sons of England or B. C. Telephone versus Westminster Royals.
Wallabies or Clan McLean versus St. Saviours.

Bye—B. C. Sugar Refinery F. C.

National League Race Tightens As Pittsburgh Wins

Bold Buccaneers Hurdle St. Louis Cardinals and Are Now in Second Place, Only Half a Game Behind Leading Chicago Cubs; Cubs Fall Victims to Cincinnati; Boston Braves Drop Two Games to Philadelphia; Chicago White Sox Surprise by Double Victory Over Detroit.

Gaining momentum day by day the Pirates of Pittsburgh had clubbed their way into second place in the National League pennant race to-day with the pace-setting position only half a game away. With Jess Petty on the mound for them yesterday the Bucs pounded out a 10-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals, relegated the Cards to third position in the standings and saw first place only half a game distant when the Chicago Cubs obligingly lost to Cincinnati.

TWO HOME RUNS FEATURE GAME

Steve Dunc Poles Out Circuit Clouts as Eagles Defeat Sidney 15-5

In a game featured by two home runs by Steve Dunc, the Eagles defeated Sidney 15-5 in the Senior Amateur Baseball League, last night. The lodgements went on a batting spree, pasting the offerings of three pitchers for twelve hits. By their victory the Eagles tightened up the league race, three clubs, the Jokers, Sidney and Eagles being tied for second place. The Tullieus are leading with two straight victories.

Sidney opened the scoring in the third inning by shoving home one runner, but the Eagles came back in their half of the inning to score three runs. Two of the counters came on a home run by Dunc, one runner being on base at the time. In the fifth Sidney scored one more run but the Eagles tallied four, including another circuit clout by Dunc. Sidney scored three runs in the seventh, while the Eagles scored two in the seventh and five in the eighth.

Wade Steele started on the mound for Sidney but was fanned in the second in favor of Williams. The latter was chased to the showers in the fourth being replaced by Brousseau. McDonald twirled for the Eagles and was fairly steady being nipped for nine hits, while he struck out six.

THE BIG SIX

The combination of a hitting spree by Rogers Hornsby and an off day in the American League schedule has given the Big Six a new leader. While the three American League members were enjoying a day of rest yesterday the Ralsh pounded out three hits in five times at bat against Cincinnati and displaced Gehrig from the top. Paul Waner hit safely twice in three attempts. Jim Bottomley's one hit in three attempts held him stationary.

PICCADILLY

Smoking Mixture

At Home and Office

Keep Piccadilly always in perfect smoking condition by buying it in the Humidor Glass Jars, containing half-pound of this famous mixture.

Blackies Frocks
Tennis and golf both prefer the low neckline for their necks' out. One white silk pique frock has its back cut very low and rounding and its front rounded but not so low. They are laced together on the shoulder and the strings tied in bows.

Bobby Jones on Golf

The main trouble with a very great many golfers is that they are too rigidly fixed upon their feet. With both feet flat upon the ground throughout the greater part of the stroke, they have no chance to accomplish a full swing while being wholly free from tension. The position of the feet will not permit a free turn of the hips and shoulders.

Frank Ball insists that the feet originate the motion of the swing. I do not entirely agree with that idea. It is a difficult matter to determine, in a complicated mechanism which should function as one piece, just what part is supplying the motive power at a particular time. It would be better to think of all parts moving together. But whether the feet move of their own accord or whether they simply follow the motion of the body is unimportant; they must move freely to accommodate a full swing.

GOOD BALANCE
The earnest but unskilled player probably figures that in order to maintain a perfect balance he must root his feet firmly in the ground and keep them there. In so doing he is confusing two very distinct kinds of balance. He doesn't realize that a graceful dancer is at all times in a perfect balance as the acrobat who stands with one hand upon the skull of his partner. One is a static balance and the other is a balance of motion. The balance which the golfer must maintain is decidedly the latter.

Alex Morrison contends that a golfer who is in perfect balance can hit a ball while standing on ice, so little tendency is there to slip. I suppose the fellows who make hobnails and spikes hope that Alex will not develop many perfect golfers. We all may well despair of reaching that stage, but it should be easy to attain a flowing balance which will permit both feet to remain in a comfortable position on the ground after completing the swing.

We have all seen players whose left foot habitually comes off the ground as they strike the ball, and others who take a few steps after the ball leaves the club. These oddities are occasioned immediately by various mistakes, but in the end the whole thing may be traced to incorrect foot action.

I think if I were trying to teach an absolute beginner something about playing golf I should start with his feet and knees—make him practice turning his body, raising the left heel without turning the sole of his foot toward the hole, and bending his left knee outward and backward so that his heel could come up without pushing him off his feet. This is one of the most important parts of a golf swing, and it is the action that few people are able to catch. Roughly the mistakes on one of two classes, those who fail to bend the left knee at all, and those who bend it straight forward without the backward turn.

USE EASIEST METHOD
The first class, the non-benders, find themselves at the top of the swing with a perfectly straight left leg which has pushed them away out of position and entirely upset the arc of any swing which they might have accomplished. The second class, by bending the knee straight forward throws almost the entire weight upon the left

CITY TO BUILD STAND AT ROYAL ATHLETIC PARK

Tenders for the erection of the new grandstand at the northwest corner of Royal Athletic Park will be called forthwith by the city, it was decided at the regular council meeting last night. Plans for the new structure, to be built at an estimated cost of some $5,800, are on file at the office of the City Purchasing Agent.

The problem is always to do the thing the easiest way. In golf the easiest method is not to swipe the ball with a blow actuated entirely by the arms. A free use of shoulders and hips adds tremendously to the power of the stroke, and demanding less effort increases control. The wide, powerful arc of this kind of swing is possible only with sound footwork which permits the rest of the machinery to function without strain.

It was my good fortune when I broke into the majors to be associated with the late Tim Hurst, a member of the American League staff of umpires. In all probability, I should settle more disputes in his own peculiar way than any other arbitrator I could name. He had a mean tongue and could cut a player's feelings. When more drastic action was necessary, even to the use of pugilistic methods, Hurst was never found wanting.

In all my career as an umpire I never witnessed a funnier incident than occurred a number of years back in a game at Philadelphia. Having an off day in my schedule, President Johnson wired me to spend it by doubling with Hurst in a game between Philadelphia and St. Louis.

It so happened that Hurst was a typical New Yorker, believing in staying any other place was just camping out. When assigned to umpire in Philadelphia, he lived in New York, taking the train into the morning and back right after the game. The ball players knew Tim's favorite train from North Philadelphia was the 5.17, which got him in New York just in time for dinner.

On this day Jack Powell was pitching for St. Louis. The Athletics early took a liking to Powell's offerings and when Mack's team went into the last half of the eighth inning it was leading something like 13-2. St. Louis was short of pitchers and Powell was allowed to remain on the rubber.

POWELL PEEVED
Powell was peeved over three things—the way Philadelphia was hitting him, that he was being allowed to continue on the rubber under such conditions and the fact that he believed Tim Hurst was getting him into trouble by mislead him. Powell knew it meant nothing whether he was beaten 26-2 or 13-2 evolved a plan that he hoped would annoy Hurst. He decided he would make him miss the 5.17.

Powell always had had control. When he worked the count to three balls and two strikes on the first three batters to face him (in the eighth), all of them finally walking, Hurst smelled a rat and asked Powell why the sudden wildness.

"Just try to make the 5.17 this evening," replied Powell. Tim realized his intent. And what did he do? Well he called out the next three batters on strikes on nine pitched balls and I don't believe one pitch was closer than a foot of the plate and most of them far above the batters' heads.

Andre Routis Is Winner Over Brown By Technical K.O.

Baltimore, Md., May 28. — Andre Routis of France, champion of the world, scored a technical knockout over Buster Brown of Baltimore, in the third round of their fifteen-round title bout here last night.

Brown, in the opinion of sports writers at the ringside, had taken the first two rounds. Routis weighed 125½ and Brown 125. The crowd took the action of Brown's seconds, who threw in a towel shortly after the start of the third round, after Brown had been knocked down three times, in a near-riotous fashion and for a time as

Can He Keep the Pace?—By Jimmy Thompson

The Leafs have apparently uncovered a real twirling wizard in their own camp in Joe Samuels. Joe's second start recently against the Baltimore Orioles and what he did to them was a shame.

He went into the box with a man on first and one on third and only one out. He fanned the next batter and forced a pop fly from the third. For the remainder of the game he had them just where he wanted them with a smoking hot delivery and a fast breaking hook that they couldn't make anything of.

This was his second appearance this year. His first game was with the Louisville Colonels, who found him just as hard to connect with as the Baltimore Birds did.

If this boy keeps up his performance, he will certainly be one of the Leaf's biggest assets this season.

Eileen Bennett and Cochet Win French Doubles Title

Paris, May 28.—Eileen Bennett, England, and Henri Cochet, France, won the French mixed doubles tennis championship to-day by defeating Helen Wills and Francis T. Hunter, United States, in straight sets 6-3, 6-2.

The final match in the mixed doubles was started under an overcast sky and under unfavorable tennis conditions. Miss Bennett started the Anglo-French team on its way to victory in the first set by winning the first game with her service.

Wilbur Coen, Kansas City youth, chalked one up on Uncle Sam's side of the ledger, however, by downing Ian Collins, one of England's best players 2-6, 8-6, 6-2, 6-0, in the third round of the men's singles. Edith Cross of San Francisco, third ranking woman player of the United States, was eliminated in the second round of the women's singles by the seventeen-year-old Renee Bertmet of France 6-3, 10-8.

Mr. Bangs' caddy has taken matters in his own hands in an effort to put a stop to the scolding he has been getting all day from the grouchy old geezer. No matter where he stood, what he did, which club he handed Bangs or what he said, it was all wrong, and he finally decided to do a little "dynamiting" of his own.

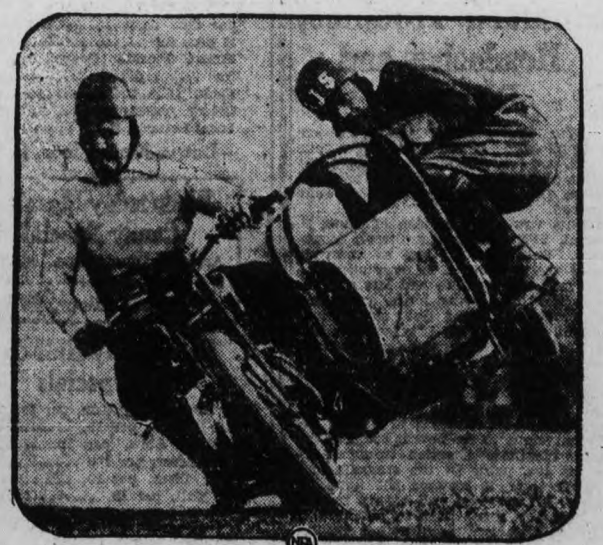

There is an ever-growing feeling among golfers in general that it is all wrong to swear and curse at the lads who are carrying the sticks. Many irritable golfers take their grouches out on the caddies. The youth packing your bag of clubs is forming his ideals for life. You'll find him copying every good golfer in the club. He patterns his iron shots from the professional; he uses the woods like the club champion; he tries to putt like the best putter in the club. It is only natural to suppose he is patterning his green and tee behavior after the golfers he packs for. Caddies in practically every club are well trained, but if you do run across one who doesn't seem to do anything right—send him in; don't treat him as if he was a donkey. Better still, tell him the right way to act in a proper manner; then, if he continues to do wrong, send him in to the caddy master.

Don't swear, tell off-color jokes, drink liquor or talk over your bets in front of the caddies. You wouldn't do it in front of your own sons. The lad packing your sticks will be a man to-morrow—treat him human!

WIDE OPEN ROUND THE BEND

This seems a case of "hold everything" and who wouldn't under the same circumstances? This pictures a tense moment in a recent motorcycle race in England when S. Lewis, left, and G. Topp took a corner at full speed on their machine. No, they didn't spill, but friend Topp, perched on the outboard, as well as Lewis, had to do some remarkable balancing to keep from losing control of things.

George Walker Is Beaten By Pesek

Portland, Ore., May 28.—John Pesek, Nebraska heavyweight wrestler, last night won from George Walker, Vancouver, B.C., with an aeroplane spin fall in 26 minutes 31 seconds.

Just prior to the fall, in trying to catch Pesek with a flying tackle, Walker shot through the ropes and off the stage and on to the concrete floor. He fell against a four-inch brass railing and shattered it. His shoulder was injured and he was unable to continue the match.

Pesek sails from Vancouver Wednesday night for an engagement of several months in Australia.

Fleet Foot ease in Sunny Italy

For men, the ideal shoe for tennis or yachting is the all-white oxford with white rubber soles and toe tip and white crepe sole. Fleet Foot oxfords for men are smart, light and comfortable.

VENETIAN gondoliers are now more sure-footed, Italian children now romp and play more joyously than of yore, and Italian youths and maidens, men and women, tread with lighter step. For they, too, have now taken to Fleet Foot shoes (made in Canada).

In Canada, as in practically all other countries of the world, Fleet Foot shoes are favorites for sport and outdoor wear.

They are so delightfully comfortable. The Crepe or Re-Ly-On soles are so tough—yet light and pliable; the reinforcement so ample to meet extra strain and wear. The construction of Fleet Foot shoes is sturdy through and through. And how snugly they fit—while giving firm support to foot and ankle muscles.

Ask your shoe dealer for Fleet Foot shoes. For your protection the name Fleet Foot is stamped on every shoe.

CITY HEALTH OFFICER TO RETIRE SOON

Dr. Arthur G. Price Asks That His Successor Be Appointed July 1

City Has Built Up Fine Record While He Has Been In Office

Retiring at his own request, Dr. Arthur G. Price, city medical health officer, will be superannuated on July 1 from the city's service. The resignation of the medical health officer reached the city council last night unheralded, and was received with great regret.

Dr. Price, recalling his twelve years' service with the city in his present capacity, gave a desire for a rest as his reason for relinquishing the post. The tribute to his work and the results of that work was general, Alderman William Marchant voicing the council's expression of regret at the loss of a valued officer. Applications will be called for a medical health officer to succeed Dr. Price, returnable at noon on June 15.

DR. ARTHUR G. PRICE

Dr. Price, widely known in western Canada for his public health service, has brought a considerable measure of steady commendation to Victoria as the result of the outstanding success made in infant welfare work under his care. Month by month mortality totals for the infant death rate throughout Canada have shown this city as holding a position in the van of communities for its low loss ratio in infant mortality.

During his term of office Dr. Price has assisted in the control of many epidemics, ranging from the mild and occasional wave of mumps and measles to the more serious diseases in which public health was menaced. Most recently, in the latter class, Dr. Price helped to organize the anti-meningitis embargo against importation of the disease from across the Pacific, and was successful in stemming the tide before a single fatality had occurred here.

His child welfare clinic at the City Hall has been the scene of many visitors daily, and its work is known throughout Canada for unsurpassed results.

During a recent visit, Viscountess Willingdon made an inspection of the clinic, and was warm in her regard for the results disclosed by the system initiated by Dr. Price.

In addition to his post as medical health officer for the city, Dr. Price is widely known and liked in the medical profession generally, and has for some time been a popular member of the British Public Schools Club. In point of years he is one of the senior members of the city's services, and is held in general esteem.

Headed by their own drum and bugle band, these boys, who range in age from seven to twelve years, will parade through the city to the Y.M.C.A. after their arrival at 9:15 a.m. They will be taken on a sightseeing drive to the Malahat Drive, Butchart's Gardens, the Observatory, Marine Drive and the Museum, returning to the Y.M.C.A. at 5 p.m.

A programme of songs, recitations, bugle calls and dialogue will be broadcast over station CFTS between 7:30 and 8 o'clock, and Senior Sixer Gordon Plint, leader of the pack, will give an address of welcome to the wolf cubs of Canada.

Later in the evening they will be the guests of the Capitol Theatre and will give a fifteen-minute exhibition on the stage.

BERRY GROWERS PROMISED AID

Province to Lend Funds to Processing Company to Be Organized

Provincial advances to the berry growers of British Columbia, to finance processing surplus strawberries for export and export markets, were promised yesterday afternoon by the Provincial Government, at the conclusion of a fourth interview with representatives of the growers.

On behalf of the berry growers, H. E. Tanner of Saanich, R. S. Twining of Gordon Head and W. J. Manson of Mission undertook formation of a limited liability company, to be known as Berry Process and Limited, and the Government agreed to advance to the concern, through the Industrial Department, funds for sugar, barrels and other containers, the advances to be a first charge on the assets of the company.

Processing stations will be established at Victoria, New Westminster and Hazelton, and the fruit handled will be subject to close Federal and Provincial inspection in the field and in course of treatment in the factories. Approximately 1,000 tons of berries will be handled this year by the three plants, the Government was informed.

Stomach Troubles, Headaches and Dizziness

When your stomach is sick, you are sick all over. If you can't digest your food, you lose strength and "pep"; get thin and nervous; and feel as tired when you get up as when you went to bed.

This was the condition of Mrs. P. Joyal, 2170 Letourneau Street, Montreal. She says: "I was so nervous that the rustling of a newspaper upset me. My appetite had left me; indigestion was giving me a great deal of trouble; I could not sleep, and steadily lost weight. Tanlac soon had me eating again, corrected my stomach trouble, steadied my nerves, ran my weight up ten pounds, and made me feel just right in every way. Let Tanlac do for you what it did for this sufferer and thousands of others. It is marvelous to see how it corrects the most obstinate digestion troubles—relieves gas, pains in the stomach and bowels—how it restores the appetite, vigor, sound sleep and strong nerves. Tanlac is made of roots, bark and herbs—Nature's own medicines for the sick. Get a bottle from your drug-gist today."

... The Daily Newspaper is the only medium in Canada that is sufficiently flexible to meet all seasonal opportunities. A schedule can be "called" as easily as a bank loan, and quicker.

"Hold this ad for a cold, rainy Thursday" ... An agency man thinks nothing of asking a Daily Newspaper to do this ... but try it out on some of the more static forms of publication.

... North, South, East and West can be handled independently in the Daily Newspaper. Warm weather products need not be advertised where the weather is cold, nor cold weather products where the weather is warm.

... "Season" copy is kept absolutely in step with seasonable demand. And if freak weather—or a freak market condition—obtains, your Newspaper schedule can be changed overnight.

No other advertising medium is so completely under your control as the Daily Newspaper.

British Premier Denies His Firm
Employs Germans

Malvern, Worcester, Eng., May 28—A threat to prosecute, if possible, whoever was responsible for originating the insinuation that the Baldwin factories in Worcester employ a number of Germans, was made by Premier Stanley Baldwin during a speech here last night.

A question about this had been made at various meetings of his, the Prime Minister said. "In the first place I employ nobody myself; I am merely a shareholder in Baldwin's Limited," he said. "But the insinuation that Germans are employed is a cowardly lie."

SPLENDID TALENT
FOR BIG CONCERT

Victoria Firemen's Band Has Galaxy of Stars For Concert on Thursday

One of the finest aggregations of musical talent ever gathered together in Victoria will perform at the grand concert at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Thursday evening. The concert is being arranged by the Victoria Firemen's Band.

Five years of unremitting practice in off-duty hours has made the Firemen's Band one of the premier organizations of its kind on the coast. During the last five years the band has been generously contributed to the pleasure of citizens and tourists alike with free concerts in the various parks of the city.

It is significant of the esteem in which the band is held among musical critics that now, when the band is endeavouring to raise funds with which to further its work, the leading musicians of the city should rally to its support.

The Schubert Club, the Victoria Male Choir, Miss Irene Bick, prominent violinist, and three musical festival winners, Mrs. W. H. Wilson, Miss Dorothy Hartree and Dr. T. H. Johns, gold medalists in the Victoria contralto and bass classes respectively, will appear on the programme on Thursday.

Tickets for the concert may be purchased from firemen and at Fletcher Bros.

event was voiced by the City Council last night. The schools' programme contributed much to the enjoyment of the Maytime holiday period and was an outstanding success, it was stated. Letters of congratulation will be sent out by the council to those who arranged the big event.

On her annual spring survey trip,
the Dominion Government hydro-graphic survey steamer Lillooet will leave port to-morrow morning at 3.30 o'clock and proceed to Vancouver, from where she will go to Millbank Sound and other parts of British Columbia's northern coast to do survey work. It is expected that she will return to Victoria towards the end of June, and will later on survey work on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

H. D. Pariseau, chief hydrographer on the Pacific coast for the Dominion Government, will make the trip aboard the Lillooet, which is in command of Capt. Knight.

Donations For Children's Ward

The daughters of Pitt, at a meeting held last evening at the home of Mrs. Macrae, Harrison Street, terminated their business arrangements for the summer months. All outstanding debts of the organization were ordered to be paid.

From samples on view at the meeting, selections for pillow cases and towels were made for the contribution to the children's ward at the Jubilee Hospital.

It is also the intention of the daughters of Pitt to redecorate the children's ward with a more cheery and suitable frieze. They will also donate new dishes with monograms for the ward.

The activities of the organization will be terminated for the summer months, when the members will assemble at the Belvedere Hotel at Sooke on June 22 for dinner and a social evening.

Miss Thain and Miss Aldridge were appointed visitors for the month of June.

The city will be expected to pay 1929 taxation to the Provincial Government on part of its 2,450-acre purchase of additional watershed lands. The City Council was informed last night by its finance committee. The settlement may cost in the neighborhood of $100, it was stated, but will not be repeated.

The purchase of $9,850 in debentures from the Royal Financial Corporation, to yield 5.5 per cent, was authorized by the City Council last night, for the investment of sinking funds.

Building permits issued at the City Hall on the first two days of this week amounted to $15,000, including three new homes and a number of incidental alterations.

As the result of his attendance at the 1927 fur show here, W. J. Thompson of Calgary has closed a deal with Island fur farmers for a number of Canadian National registered silver foxes, which will be shipped to him in the fall.

Plenish water supplies at Foul Bay Beach and irrigation water extension at Central School were authorized by the City Council last night. A sum of $2,000 asked for the creation of playing fields at Heywood Avenue was tabled, pending report by the finance committee.

Colombo, and the Young Australia League at civic functions under the direction of the entertainment committee.

Winners of the road races held last Saturday will receive their awards at the Pro Patria branch, Canadian Legion headquarters, to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock. HE'S AS "FIT AS A FIDDLE" NOW Joyous and carefree with his sleight and dog, this husky youngster was practically helpless not long ago before being admitted to the Queen Alexandra Solarium for crippled children. His case was considered an almost hopeless one when he was brought to the institution at Mill Bay and it was thought necessary to amputate one of his legs. To-day, however, he is strong and healthy and his grateful mother has forwarded this picture to the solarium which is now conducting its annual appeal for support.

COUNCIL OF WOMEN NOW IN SESSION

Delegates From Points Throughout Canada at Saskatoon

Saskatoon, May 28.—Functions of the National Council of Women were outlined in an address by the president, Mrs. J. A. Wilson of Ottawa, at the opening session of the council's annual convention at the University of Saskatchewan this morning. "A clearing house for women's organizations, many of which are federated nationally and far more federated locally in many places," was the president's explanation of the form the council takes.

The council's business sessions were presided over by Mayor G. W. Norman. Mrs. R. J. Macdonald, Provincial Council president, and Mrs. John Macklem, president of the Local Council of Women in Saskatchewan, accorded the delegates welcome from their organizations.

Mrs. Grant of New Glasgow, N.S., replied on behalf of the delegates. Mrs. Willoughby Cumming, who attended practically all of the previous sessions of the National Council, sent regrets at her enforced absence, which were reciprocated in a message authorized by the convention.

Because of bereavement, Mrs. Tweed, secretary, is unable to be present, and her place is being filled by Mrs. Harry S. Hay, Saskatoon.

Brief reports of four provincial councils were presented at the forenoon session by their respective presidents: Mrs. C. C. Edwards, Alberta; Mrs. Dunbar Hudson, Manitoba; Mrs. Paul Smith, British Columbia, and Mrs. R. J. Macdonald, Saskatchewan.

The highly specialized work of public health committee was summarized in the report of the convener, Dr. E. J. Garland, of Toronto.

MENTAL HYGIENE
The value of mental hygiene, the subject of an address by Dr. Mabel Hanington of St. John, N.B., was stressed as a kindred subject dealt with by her.

The convention regretted the absence of Miss Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa, whose report as convener of the child welfare committee also was read.

The Shipping Board has approved the building of the ships. Under the Jones-White Law the Federal Government can buy up to seventy-five per cent of the cost of building a vessel.

The total sales aggregated little less than 4,000,000 shares.

Bean, K.C., Deputy Attorney-General, will be shown to the president when he comes here this week, it is understood.

Later the report will go to the Board of Governors of the university, it is expected.

Meanwhile, pending his conference with President Klinck, Mr. Hinchliffe declined to reveal the contents of Mr. Bean's report.

Log Tax Stays Pending Appeal

Vancouver, May 28.—A Victoria dispatch to The Vancouver Province says British Columbia's tax on exported logs declared ultra vires by Mr. Chief Justice Morrison of the Supreme Court, will remain in force until the judgment has been appealed by the Provincial Government, as a result of arrangements reached between the Province and Manitoba.

WATERPOWERS BILL APPROVED FOR PRAIRIES

The case of British Columbia, the Federal Government was owner of the lands in the Railway Belt and the Peace River Block. In the case of the prairie provinces, ownership of the lands and waterpowers remained in the jurisdiction of the Federal Government.

The matter, however, was one of agreement whereby the Federal Government bound itself to turn over the administration of the waterpowers to the provinces.

FULL USE OF POWER
There were some difficulties, for in every instance the streams were inter-provincial. That circumstance had already presented problems in Manitoba, and it was a favorable position that the Federal Government had control as between Ontario and Manitoba, since by its good offices it had provided for the complete utilization of these streams.

Mr. Stewart had no doubt the same would arise with Saskatchewan and Alberta. However, as the measure stood, it provided that every province would have complete control of its waterpowers as soon as it was ready to avail itself of that control.

E. J. Garland, U.P.A., Bow River, asked if the legislation now submitted by the Minister had been approved by the Province of Alberta.

Mr. Stewart replied the bill had not been submitted to the Alberta Government, but that was unnecessary under the circumstances. The measure affected all waterpowers which had not been allocated, excepting those located in park areas.

Pacific Trade Attracts More British Ships

Vancouver, May 28.—British shipowners are coming into the Pacific trade more and more every year, according to T. L. Duff of Glasgow, shipowner and broker, who is paying a visit to Vancouver. The Pacific trade will continue to attract the British shipowners to a greater extent in the future, he says, because they are gradually becoming better acquainted with the markets and with the opportunities of doing business.

A favorite route to-day, he says, is to come from Europe to the Orient with cargo, cross the Pacific in ballast and obtain cargo on the Pacific coast of Canada and United States for the home voyage.

MEN OF LOST ALASKA SHIP COME SOUTH

Members of Crew of Sunken Ss. Aleutian Being Taken

Tributes Paid to Conduct of All at Crisis

Seward, Alaska, May 28.—The fact that almost everyone aboard was awake and dressed when the liner Aleutian struck a rock in Uyak Bay, off Kodiak Island, Sunday morning prevented a great loss of life in the accident, survivors and rescuers agreed to-day.

Provided with clothing and blankets, the crew of the Aleutian were south-bound to-day aboard the steamship Admiral Evans. The passengers had been taken to their destinations on Kodiak Island or Seward.

Captain R. R. Lukens of the rescue ship Surveyor termed the escape of the passengers and crew from the doomed vessel "the most efficient act of lifesaving at sea I ever heard of."

MAN LOST LIFE
Only one life was lost, that of Manuel Dorras, a ship's janitor, who returned to the ship from a lifeboat to rescue a "lucky" horsehoe.

The crash occurred at 5.29 a.m. as the Aleutian was steaming up Uyak Bay to put cannery workers ashore. The crew was busy loading cargo, the ship's officers had changed watch only a half hour previously and most of the passengers were awake and dressed, many of them preparing to disembark at Uganik, a few miles away.

PASSENGERS WARNED
Those who were in their berths were hurried to the deck as the steamer struck the hidden rock. Barefooted stewards ran to all staterooms to get the passengers out. The vessel lurched quickly and by the time the passengers were on deck was listing about 45 degrees to port, making it impossible to stand erect on deck. Many slid to the supports, then climbed over the rail into lifeboats.

At least a dozen jumped into the water. Almost perfect calm prevailed among the crew and passengers. Few seemed to realize the vessel would disappear in a few minutes. There was no explosion, nor did the ship roll over.

Miss L. Miller of LaTouche hung by one hand to a rail as the stern of the vessel rose, when she finally let go and dropped into the water and was picked up.

After all the survivors had been put aboard the Surveyor, Captain Nord insisted on returning to the scene of the wreck to look for the hidden rock. A three-hour search was unsuccessful and it was concluded the Aleutian had struck a pinnacle rock that would be located only by dragging. Uyak Bay has not been charted since 1917.

SLIGHTLY INJURED
Mrs. Charles C. Weybrecht of Seward, one of the passengers, was slightly injured as she slid to the rail and was pushed through into a lifeboat.

The survivors presented a motley appearance when the Surveyor docked here. The majority were dressed in shirts and overalls. Few had caps or hats. Blankets and clothing were provided by the local United States army quartermaster and steamship company agents.

A hundred and ten tons of cargo went down with the ship, most of it in the hold. The ship was valued at $1,000,000.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

Wheat Prices Slump Again

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited) Winnipeg, May 28.—With further good rains in western Canada, wheat and winter wheat reports favorable, the wheat market to-day was extremely weak with wheat pouring into the pit from all sources, and the result that prices broke about 3½ cents, setting well through the daily bids.

It was difficult to state who was asking the wheat but there was a little buying by exporters and seaboard houses on the scene down while shorts were covering at times. Just a moderate export business worked overnight. In the cash market there was a plentiful demand for all grades from No. 3 Northern down to No. 6 at ½ better than the previous closing spreads.

Millers and shippers were the best buyers. Offerings moderate, and large orders generally remain very firm in their views. Country elevator stocks are not yet moving to headline. Chicago market was also weak today, the grain market being under the dollar market, while on the extreme break Winnipeg prices made new lows for all the options.

The market firmed in the late trading when the selling pressure let up to some extent and shorts were evened and taking profits, but the situation still looks weak. The rains in the west past twenty-four hours were fairly general but were heavier where they were the lightest the previous day, so that the whole west now has ample moisture for the next two or three weeks.

There were a few scattered showers over winter wheat territory but generally the weather is favorable and the crop is approaching maturity with cutting already under way in the extreme south and in another month the new crop will be pressing on the market. Europe is taking fair quantities of wheat but only for immediate requirements. This market should be due for some reaction but supplies are very large and the market does not improve despite the drastic break in prices.

By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.
Chicago, May 28.—Wheat: The market scored a rally from the low point to-day and there was a pretty fair class of buying on the setbacks. There was considerable reaction, however, when new lows for the season were recorded. The general news did not indicate much change in the situation but apparently a little export business was done on the break.

The price is extremely low and while the new crop is beginning to throw its shadow over the market, the discounting of new crop movement and all other bear features has been pretty drastic.

Liverpool was weak following our decline and Argentine is still offering keen competition in order to dispose of its remaining surplus of 105,000,000 bushels. Crop news continues favorable and there is no concrete news on which to base any bullish opinion, but we are of the opinion that some technical rally is warranted.

Corn: In spite of small receipts and no evidence of country selling, corn liquidation was fairly heavy, the cash trade was fair with receipts small and steady basis. However, the weather was more favorable as a rule and corn planting has made good progress. The deliveries to-day were 80,000 bushels and shipping sales 104,000. The market has had a big decline and short interest probably has increased. Large receipts are expected next month but in view of the recent decline it would seem that some rally is due.

Montreal Confident Of Canada Prosperity Continuing, Despite New York Break

Montreal, May 28 (By R. C. Bond).—While United States people are wondering if the present New York market break means the end of prosperous times, evidence is ample of continued good times in Canada.

The Bank of Montreal business summary to-day says: "Pressure of present business as well as confidence in continuance of prosperity is manifested in the extensive building construction, the value of which surpasses all previous records. Contracts awarded in April are estimated at $43,338,000, business buildings accounting for 37.5 per cent of this sum and residential construction 33.8 per cent. In the four elapsed months of the year, engineering works placed under contract amount to $38,707,000 and industrial plants involve an expenditure of $16,260,000. These large building operations have given employment to labor and infused activity into many subsidiary trades."

Montreal, May 28.—Following the severe reaction in Wall Street and all other markets yesterday, stocks behaved better here to-day. International Nickel, after its net decline yesterday of nearly five points, for the first quarter, showing a marked expansion, it would appear that the stock is suffering almost entirely from a general market condition, with the decline bearing no relation to the actual affairs of the company.

In connection with Brazilian, The Gazette to-day says, that because of the wide circulation of rumors suggesting a critical state in the financial affairs of the Republic, it is interesting to note that according to the last report of the British Chamber of Commerce of Sao Paulo and Southern Brazil, the Republic of Brazil has just entered a period of normal trading based on sounder commercial conditions than have existed at any time since the war period. It was stated that since December 1926, when President Washington Lourenço introduced his stabilization plans for the Brazilian miltre, there has been a gradual readjustment of business, which has been accompanied by a period of normal trading based on sounder commercial conditions than have existed at any time since the war period.

There were a few scattered showers over winter wheat territory but generally the weather is favorable and the crop is approaching maturity with cutting already under way in the extreme south and in another month the new crop will be pressing on the market. Europe is taking fair quantities of wheat but only for immediate requirements. This market should be due for some reaction but supplies are very large and the market does not improve despite the drastic break in prices.

VANCOUVER MINING MARKET

(By Miller, Court & Co. Ltd.)
Vancouver, May 28.—The big trade to-day was in the oil stocks, following the rise on the Calgary market resulting from the strike on Home No. 2. In the mining list Kootenay King was somewhat firmer, and this afternoon was selling at 40.

George Copper was also stronger, with the first sale this afternoon at 600. Snowflake was off, with early sales this afternoon at low as $24.

To-day is the last day for trading in Pend Oreille rights on this market. It was announced to-day that during the last ten days, D. C. McKee had made an examination of the Topley-Richfield property for the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company. At the same time A. T. Airey has conducted an examination of it for the Britannia Company. Excellent progress in the exploration of the ore bodies on the 200-foot level of Topley-Richfield is being made. Professor J. M. Turnbull and H. L. Batten, consulting engineers, have made a thorough examination of the property for the Topley-Richfield Mining Company.

WHITNEY LETTER

By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.

New York, May 28.—Whitney of the Wall Street Financial Service says today:

WHOLESALE LIQUIDATION

"Banking institutions will be principal buyers of stocks this morning for two reasons. First, because there will undoubtedly be a substantial amount of stock for sale at the market as a result of yesterday's decline and secondly, because as a result of the degree to which public confidence has been shaken by the fight between Federal Reserve and the banking fraternity, numerous issues have been carried down to points where they are not only cheap but at bargain levels. In addition, industrial stocks as a group are down to a point at which they have been in no sense of the word broken and on four previous occasions this year. The break has been quite large in industrial stocks, a break which has caused a recession but nothing which can be described as a break in the rails, utilities and oils. While these three groups have given ground, they have in no sense of the word broken and I don't believe that they will. It will certainly require plenty of nerve to buy stocks this morning but that is what should be done."

"There is no longer any question of a credit stringency. The high money rates of the year have been witnessed and we shall pass over the end of the month with nothing but moderate flurry in the call money market. I am firmly of the opinion that there will be no increase in the discount rates and that Federal Reserve authorities and the banking fraternity will find a common meeting ground and will adopt a policy which will repair the damage which has been done to public confidence as a reason for the policy which each has pursued this year. There is little other than fright which is the product of the lack of confidence in the banking leadership to account for the manner in which stocks have been sacrificed in the past week. The selling has gone too far already and will be stopped to-day."

"While realizing that there are still some sore spots in the industrial group which will have to be healed through the same procedure as was adopted in the case of Chrysler and Anaconda, etc., I am definitely and unequivocally of the opinion that oils, rail and utilities will sell materially higher than they have sold thus far, as promptly as industrial stock liquidation is completed."

"In the rail group, New Haven, Erie, Missouri Pacific, Allegheny Corporation, Canadian Pacific, New York Central, Atchafalpa and Southern Pacific are positively cheap."

"In the utility group the same can truthfully be said of Con. Gas, North American, Electric Power & Light, American & Foreign Power and National Power & Light."

"In the oil group the Standard Oil and Pan American serve as a basis of liquidation. On the three occasions before this year the outlook appeared quite as hopeless as it appears this morning but was far from hopeless then and is far from hopeless now."

N.Y. Market Gossip

New York, May 28.—The Midland Steel Products Company, Cleveland, is cancelling its contracts for manufacture of steel freight car doors and in the future devote its entire production to frames, axles, housings and wheels for automobiles. The new policy will be inaugurated effective January 1, 1930.

"The auto trade demands our entire efforts," said E. J. Cullas, president, in connection with the announcement. "And we feel that the new policy will greatly strengthen our position. The auto industry has grown to be of great importance with us, and its rapidly increasing requirements are placing constant additional demand upon our facilities. At present the production of frames, axles, housings and four wheel brakes is the highest in the history of the company and orders on hand indicate that the condition will continue."

U. S. Shipping Board issues order barring ten steamers of eleven U. S. Lines Inc., from using the port of Havana. The exception being the Leviathan. None of the vessels are now operated to Havana, and the ruling is seen as a move to assure possible purchasers of the American Line of protection against competition of rival American companies.

Greene Cananea Copper earned $3.05 a share in 1928, against $1.16 in 1927. The company's earnings for 1928, profit, $1,458,577, after interest, depreciation, etc., but before federal taxes, against $1,557,800 in 1928.

New Haven April surplus, after taxes and charges, $1,575,754, against $820,847 in April, 1928.

Fishers' price index $95.9 for week ended May 25, unchanged from preceding week.

Steel production in some quarters dropped a few points, but the general trend in the Pittsburgh and Youngstown districts is to keep mills going to capacity. Shortage of steel of certain fabricating lines is becoming prominent in the valley, owing to the inability of mills to make deliveries of some products. Light plates, for example, are difficult to obtain on early shipment and in some cases operation of fabricated material is delayed.

California daily average crude oil production increased 12,600 barrels in week ended May 25, to 100,000 barrels.

New York, May 28.—Manufacturing continues at a high price, and employment has not shown the seasonal declines usual during the latter part of the month. Freight loading is also at an exceptionally high rate for this time of the year. All of which points to a recovery in the economy.

In addition to this, the fact that the more important stocks are selling considerably lower than they were a few days ago, points to a belief that there is sufficient reason for anticipating a recovery in the market.

The losses on some stocks are really striking. For example, Chrysler is 50 points below the high, Montgomery Ward is 45 below, United States Steel is 25 down, Bethlehem Steel 20, Baldwin Locomotive 45, and so on. While some stocks have indeed sold high, and their substantially lower levels do not make them bargains as yet, the majority have reached sound levels and are now obtainable on a reasonable ratio to their yield. Earnings, and prospects for the recovery, however, will be very slow, and to certain extent painfully checked by intermediate reactions. There is still Democles' sword, in the form of the discount rate, overhanging the market.

The month-end recovery is also expected to be exceptionally heavy, which will bring rising call rates this week. All this points to caution, and we advise watching one's margin closely before entering into new commitments. Those able to buy, however, can be confident that they are buying stocks nearer the bottom than ever before.

Commonwealth Power has acted in an excellent manner throughout the reaction and displayed unusual strength on Saturday. The issue was practically the only one of the list that moved rapidly upward. Although the current price may appear high, the possibilities of Commonwealth Power have not been fully discounted.

A new gigantic utility organization is in the process of formation, and Commonwealth Power will become one of the most important holders of this company. To a certain extent, it is similar to the Commonwealth Power Super-Power. The latter company, through its interests in the United States, has been able to give its stockholders valuable rights. Commonwealth has resulted in a strong advance in Super-Powers' stock. Commonwealth Power, although in a speculative position, is still attractive, and we recommend purchases.

Erie was under pressure for two distinct reasons. One was the general structure of the market, which caused quite a liquidation, and the other was the announced change in management. Neither reason justifies this movement.

In our opinion, any weak market should be utilized for buying rather than for selling. The change in the presidency of the road is in no way a threat to the company. The new management, however, is co-operating with the former president in restoring the road. They know all the ins and outs of Erie and should be able to improve its position. While the former president is out of the company, we do not believe that his severance from the road has been severed.

Erie is part of the Van Swearingen organization, and all those associated with this organization will have supervision over Erie, either directly or indirectly. We believe that the present reaction offers a good opportunity for an accumulation of this stock.

Norfolk and Western is one of the most conservatively priced issues on the board and shows considerable appreciation in value the moment pressure is lifted from the market. Norfolk is one of the largest beneficiaries of the recent O'Fallon decision, and should long increase its dividend rate. The road is controlled by the Pennsylvania Railroad which, in itself, will be interested in receiving a higher return on its investment.

Now that the recapitulation possibilities are remote, we believe that the high type roads with large earnings will show the largest gains in the near future. Norfolk and Western can easily sell 60 or 80 points higher and would not be overvalued at that. Its earning power can also be increased, and the road should experience no difficulty in maintaining a $12 or even a $15 rate.

"LOVE IS OF THE — VALLEY —"

By

DAVID LYALL

"I've seen it in my dreams out there in the heat," he said in a queer voice. "When the grass was burnt up and the stock suffering for a drop of water I saw the grey clouds creeping down on the fire shore. By God, but I never knew it was half so beautiful! It's a country to die for, Bee, that's one good comfort."

"Not to die for, Wally," she cried with a sharp poignant note in her voice. "To fight for it, live for it, and sit down and let me look at you and tell me how it all came about."

He sat down on the edge of the gilt settee, and began to talk. "Oh yes, the Bishops are all right, and I'll never forget what I owe to them," he said in answer to her question. "They've given me back my health, but, of course, I've worked for my living out there. They're a bit like Lotta, they don't give away anything for nothing."

"But you liked the life?"

"Oh yes, up to a point, but if this hadn't come I'd have had to break away. You see, there was no prospect. There are two boys growing up and the ranch will be divided between them."

Beatrice pondered half a moment, then put another question with the queer feeling that she wanted to get the whole ground cleared and learn exactly how her brother stood, both in relation to them and to the people he had left.

"But Lotta said—at least she gave me to understand some while ago, that you might marry, her niece, Betty?"

Wally's face flushed all over and he put up his hand to hide it.

"I hate to speak about it, Bee. It sounds so jolly rotten, but I haven't decided yet. I think, but I don't feel that way. Quite a nice little girl, the best of the bunch, in fact, but she wasn't my sort, that's the beginning and the end. For that alone I'd have had to quit."

"Would they have agreed to it, the father and mother, supposing you'd felt differently?"

"I dare say they might, but don't let's talk about it, and don't look at me with that queer look in your eyes. I've played the game, Bee. I haven't anything to wipe off the slate, and as I said I've worked for my living among the Bishops, and earned my grub. Now tell me about Ida and that German beast. Of course he's a beast, they all are."

"He's been very kind to Ida, Wally, but he's cut her off," said Beatrice, with a strange wrung note in her voice.

"Cut her off from what do you mean?"

"From us; she isn't here at all. He took her to Germany on the fifteenth of July, ostensibly to pay a visit to his people. She's in Rheims, Prussia, somewhere. Of course she never came back. He knew what was coming and took her away. She's expecting a baby next month. Poor Ida, he'll be born in his father's country."

"A Hun and to fight for the Hun?" cried Wally, his face betraying unutterable gloom. "At the moment the smiling and agitated Lizzie appeared and asked whether she might lay the cloth. A nod from Beatrice assured her, and the work was proceeded with deftly. Then she disappeared and presently the little house was pervaded with the appetizing odour of bacon sizzling in the pan.

"Oh Lord, Bee, tell her to hurry up! I'm starving," said Wally. "And it's topping to be home. I've been away five years. Does it seem creditable?"

"It seems much longer than that, Wally, so much has happened."

"So the poor kid is a prisoner in Germany; tell me more about Wally. Ida said in the only letter I had from her after her marriage that he was a naturalized Britisher now."

"The most of them are for commercial purposes, Wally, but that is a matter of no importance. It alters nothing. They're bound hand and foot to Germany."

"Well, of course, it's their country, same as ours belongs to us, and nobody blames them for fighting for her, but it's the way they fight. My God, it won't bear speaking about or thinking about. I don't suppose we'll ever see Ida again, because we're going to lick them; wipe the floor of the earth with them."

"Oh Wally, I like to hear that!" cried Beatrice, pitifully. "But do you think we can?"

Wally's eyes grew round with wonder.

"I don't think it, I know it," he answered, not exultantly, but with a quiet earnestness which carried conviction. "There isn't anything else to be done. Good heavens, do you think we are going to let these swine inherit the earth and trample on everything that is decent and worth having?"

"No, no; but we're not getting on, Wally. Have you seen the papers this morning?"

"I haven't. I've stopped reading them. What's the good? Slog away at it, keeping the end in view, that's what we've got to do. Hullo, here's Phyllis with the nectar of the gods. I've fallen on my feet and no mistake!"

It was only the gay, inconsequent Wally, smiling through all. He had made a gallant fight, with inherited weakness and the rigors of the Scottish climate, but had never lost heart. And now, so true a son of Scotland was he, that restored, almost remade, he had hastened back to give himself to the land of his fathers and her righteous cause.

Beatrice ministered to his wants, and watched him with a mingling of pride and satisfaction which astounded her.

Once more a Heron, fully worthy of his name and heritage, would fight in his country's wars, and the old name and race would not be ashamed by Wally's contribution to the traditions of Linlithgow.

"Tell me about the old place," he said with his mouth full. "Ever see it now?"

Beatrice shook her head and the faint touch of color rose in her cheeks as she saw the urgency in her blood betrayed her.

"I haven't for ages and ages."

"But they're still there, aren't they, those blighters, who made such a mess of things?"

"I don't think they can be. They let it, I know, and went down south to Torquay or Bournemouth, or somewhere. I don't go out to Marston at all, Wally, now. It hurts too much."

"Tell me about it. Oh yes, I know, you wrote, but it's difficult hearing you tell it. When letters come they seem to leave out every blessed thing he wants to know."

"A poor tribute to the home correspondent," said Beatrice with a slight rueful laugh. "But really there isn't anything to tell about Linlithgow. You'll have to go out yourself if you want first-hand up-to-date information."

"Good idea! Probably I will after I've got settled with my regiment."

"Which one?"

"The one and only, the Royal Scots. I'll go to the depot to-morrow after I've had a night's rest and have recovered from London and the train journey. But about the Brides; two sons weren't there, what are they doing in the war?"

Once more the urgent blood mottled Beatrice's face. "The younger one is just a schoolboy. He can't be more than seventeen now."

Dogs Know Great Earthquake Is Coming

The Journal of the Royal Geographical Society of London contains an account of a happening in connection with the great earthquake at Calcutta in 1819, and also at Concepcion, which seems to indicate the possession of some sort of prescience by the part of dogs.

These canines were used to earth tremors and apparently were not more alarmed at slight ones than were the human inhabitants. But some time before the great shock, which tumbled all the buildings in ruins, they left these cities and sought safe terrain.

FINE WOODWORK

Screens Which Match Your Home's Beauty

Let us measure your home for a complete set of screen doors and windows designed to blend with the architecture of your home. An estimate of cost is free of obligation.

OUR neighbor's home was one of the smartest in the block until he put up his screens. Then those old-fashioned screen doors and clumsy-looking window screens ruined the whole effect of a beautiful home. Don't tolerate old-fashioned screens just because you are used to them.

Lemon, Gonnason screen windows and doors give your home tailor-made smartness. Exactly kiln-dried lumber resists warping and shrinking. Precision-cut mortise and tenon joints give rigidity... doors and window screens which close tight and keep flies out.

Aviation League Starts Campaign

Ottawa, May 28.—The Aviation League of Canada, in annual meeting here yesterday, decided to commence an intensive membership campaign with an objective of 5,000 members. To this work Major-General J. H. MacBrien, president of the league, and others pledged their whole time and support.

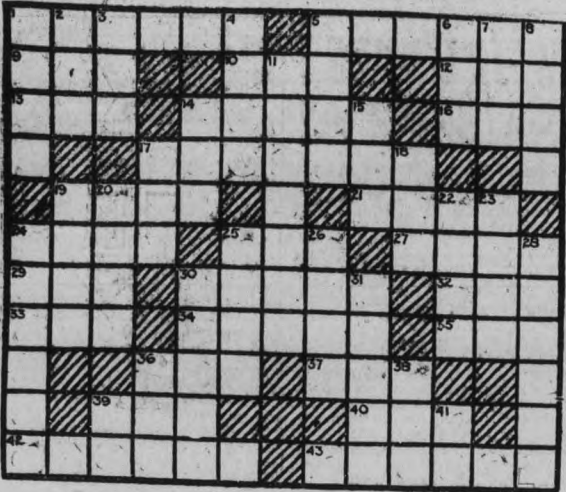

Recognizing "the inestimable value of aviation to a country such as Canada," where the great distances between centres of population and between the pioneer and settled territories makes a fast system of transportation most desirable, the Aviation League would put its full weight of influence behind the campaign for members. Maj.-Gen. MacBrien said.

The purpose of the Aviation League is to encourage and foster commercial and civil aviation in Canada.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily And Susie's Swing

(Copyright, 1929, by McClure News-Paper Syndicate)

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Go on, Susie! Tell us!" barked Jackie Bow Wow, the little puppy dog boy one day as Uncle Wiggily watched the animal children coming from the Hollow Stump School.

"Nope!" answered Susie Littletail, the rabbit girl, "I'm not going to tell you! It's a secret!"

"You'll tell me, won't you, Susie, cause I gave you some strawberry jam, didn't I?" and Jimmie Wibblewobble, the duck boy, wagged his feathery tail in a funny way.

"Yes, Jimmie, you gave me some jam and I thanked you for it," said Susie. "But I can't tell you about this 'cause it's a secret with me and Nannie Wag-tail."

"Well, here comes Nannie's brother Billie," said Peetie, who was a brother to Jackie Bow Wow. He pointed to a little boy goat who was prancing along the path, butting sunbeams with his horns. "If Billie says it's all right, will you tell us Susie? 'Cause he'll make it all right with Nannie."

"No!" exclaimed Susie. "I'm not going to tell you boys anything about it. Nannie and I have a secret and we're going to keep it."

Jackie turned a front somersault.

"Oh, go on, Susie! Tell us where it is!" barked Billie. "I asked my sister and she said it was all right for you to tell, if you wanted to. Go on—tell us! I'll let you look at my horn where I scratched it against a barbed wire fence if you tell us."

"Pooh! As if I cared to see a scratched goat's horn!" laughed Susie. "No, I'm not going to tell you where it is!"

"Uncle Wiggily saw Billie, Jackie and Peetie whisper together as they followed the rabbit girl along the woodland path."

"Wonder what sort of a secret Susie has that she won't tell her school chums?" thought Uncle Wiggily, who was among the trees where he could not easily be seen. The next moment he learned, for Billie, the goat, suddenly bled:

"Go on, Susie! Tell us where you and Nannie have a wild grape vine swing in the woods and I'll stand on my horns for you!"

"Will you, really?" asked Susie for she loved circus tricks and Billie could do two or three. "Honest, Billie?"

"Sure!" barked the goat. "Tell us where you and Nannie found that grape vine swing in the woods."

"And if you let us swing in it," went on Jackie, "I'll turn a front somersault for you!"

"I'll turn a back somersault!" barked the other puppy.

"Oh, how lovely!" exclaimed Susie. "Three circus tricks! Well, go on boys and after you do them I'll tell you where Nannie and I found a wonderful swing in the woods."

So this was the secret which Jackie, Peetie and Billie had been teasing Susie to tell. Uncle Wiggily had found out by listening.

While this configuration prevails the seers may be captious and inclined to find fault with the progress they can not understand. The young should be patient.

Washington, D.C., now comes under a sway of the planets making for removals and changes in public buildings.

Ancient places as well as traditions must vanish under this rule of the stars which make for efficiency rather than historic romance.
